MAGNATES ASK CHECK ON OIL YIELD IN U. S.

Fear of Over-production Causing Anxiety to Leading Producers

TO STOP DRILLING RUSH

Proposal Would Keep Oil in Ground Until Production Is Desirable

New York.—(AP)—An independent oil operator, Ray H. Collins of Tulsa, Okla., Friday assumed the office of dictator in the nation's bonanza oil pool, the Seminole field in Oklahoma, with supreme authority to place an artificial restriction on output for the next two weeks. The vesting of a dictatorship by representatives of nine of the country's largest operators, meeting here Thursday to consider a policy of curtailment, marks the first time since the enactment of the anti-trust laws that a basic industry has taken so drastic a step to cure its ills, and even the conferees doubted that the federal government would permit the petroleum interests to go as far as they consider advisable to accomplish the desired result. A committee of five men was selected to develop a plan that would apply in all production areas.

Washington.—The influence of the federal government in aiding industry to put its house in order is exempted from the repeal of the leading oil producers that some practical work be worked out by the federal oil conservation board to prevent the over-production which today is causing anxiety in the oil world.

The farmers of the west have appealed for aid to take care of their export surplus, the surplus which they obtained government help in the over-production which attended them in recent months. And now the oil industry, faced with declining prices and a continuance of over-production asks help at Washington.

Secretary Work of the department of the interior, as chairman of the Federal Oil Conservation board received the appeal and promptly asked Walter C. Teague, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, and W. S. Farish, former president of the American Petroleum Institute, who had addressed their letter to him, to convene as many as possible of the leaders of the oil industry in New York at once and formulate a plan for the government to examine.

MAKE PROPOSAL

One of the proposals made by Messrs. Teague and Farish was that interested producers, instead of purchasing full interests in definite subdivisions of so-called wild cat blocks of acreage, should buy undivided fractional interests in such blocks. In this way it is hoped that the fierce competition in drilling under the present system will be rendered unnecessary and much of the oil kept in the ground until its production is necessary and desirable.

Secretary Work calls attention to federal and state laws relating to agreements to control production, but Messrs. Teague and Farish have anticipated this difficulty by pointing out that such a relatively small part of the total production would be withheld by concerted action of various groups that no monopolistic control could really be changed.

In other words the oil men call it voluntary cooperation, drawing an analogy somewhat to the way in which a group of farmers might group themselves in a cooperative organization and agree among themselves not to plant more than a certain acreage each year. Unless all the cooperatives enter into agreements with each other as to prices, the federal government has held that the concerted action of the cooperatives in regulating their own production is not a violation of the anti-trust laws.

WANT FEARS MONOPOLY

This very thought that monopolistic control need not be feared was expressed by the federal oil conservation board in its last report, which added that "cooperative regulation of either the development or the operation of a single oil field, or the control of the percentage of the country's total production."

In other words the possible conflict with federal statutes will depend on the exact way in which agreements are worked to refrain from purchasing "wild cat" blocks except under certain conditions and to refrain from drilling. When the oil producers have drafted a plan, the secretary of the interior will submit it to the department of justice for an opinion. Then it will become necessary for the oil industry to persuade its own members to adjust the scheme of their own volition and the government may be a factor in urging the adoption of such a plan. If all viewpoints can be reconciled as to locality,

LOVE LETTERS FIGURE IN KELLY MURDER CASE

Los Angeles.—(AP)—A strenuous effort to prove that the love of Dorothy Mackaye, actress, was the prize in the bare knuckle fight between Paul Kelly, film actor, and Ray Raymond, musical comedy star, husband of the actress, who died after the battle, was promoted by the prosecution Friday in Kelly's murder trial.

The state delved into the past of Kelly and Miss Mackaye when it gathered a series of telegrams and love letters alleged to have passed between the two and announced that the actress Friday would be asked on the stand to identify them. The purported love missives are regarded by the state as its trump cards.

Snyder Murderers Calm As They Hear Sentences

Queens Co. Courthouse, N. Y.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, and Henry Judd Gray Friday were sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing the week of June 20 for the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband, Albert Snyder, magazine art editor.

Neither defendant showed any emotion as Justice Townsend Sunday pronounced sentence. Mrs. Snyder was dressed in black, the same costume she wore during the trial. Gray's figure was tense. He stood about five feet from his blonde paramour, but neither looked at the other.

Prior to imposition of sentence, counsel for both Gray and Mrs. Snyder made motions asking that the verdict be set aside, Justice Scudder denied the motions.

The voices of counsel and Justice Scudder could not be heard a few feet from the bench, the amplifiers used during the trial having been removed.

Neither Gray nor Mrs. Snyder replied when the clerk of court asked if they had anything to say as to why sentence should not be imposed. Attorneys for both interpellated that the defendants had "nothing to say at this time."

Appeals from the sentences are contemplated. These will be made direct to the court of appeals. It is expected that six weeks will elapse before decision is reached on the appeals. Neither defendant has appealed at present.

Court attaches said Mrs. Snyder and Gray would be taken to Sing Sing Monday. Counsel for Gray denied reports that Gray had asked the privilege of saying goodbye to his erstwhile paramour.

When the sentencing was ended, Gray and Mrs. Snyder were taken, one at a time, to their separate cells.

Fall-Sinclair Oil Trial Postponed Until Oct. 17

Washington.—(AP)—Trial of the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy case was postponed Friday in the District of Columbia supreme court from May 23 to Oct. 17.

Continuance of the case was asked by government counsel so that further effort might be made to serve a subpoena on James F. O'Neill, former president of the Prairie Oil and Gas Co., described as a "pivotal" witness in the case.

Formal report was made to the court that a subpoena had been served on H. M. Sinclair, former chairman of the board of the Midwest Refining Co. The subpoena was served by an American consul on a train between Monte Carlo and Nice, France.

Owen J. Roberts told Justice Hitz that he assumed Blackmer would appear in response to the subpoena although the long missing oil operator refused to accept the court summons when the American consul tendered to him.

RESTRICTED CREDIT IS CAUSE OF BERLIN SLUMP

Berlin.—(AP)—A tremendous slump in prices occurred on the Berlin bourse Friday following the announcement that Berlin banks have decided to restrict credits for speculative purposes. Declines of from ten to forty points occurred throughout the trading list. The public, which hitherto has been reluctant to sell, became panicky and threw large holdings on the market at any price.

All classes of industrials were hit. The severity of the break led to rumors of the formation of a banking syndicate for the support of concerns which have been hardest hit by the slump.

EVRARD IS HEAD OF DISTRICT ATTORNEYS

Sentiment at Association Meeting Is Against Prohibition Law

Green Bay.—(AP)—The Wisconsin District Attorney's association, meeting here for its annual convention elected Raymond Evrard, Green Bay, president of the organization Friday morning. All other officers were re-elected, while Sheboygan was selected as the next convention city. Mr. Evrard's nomination was made by H. J. Schmidt, of Beaver Dam, the latter being closest to the curbing. They were proceeding up the street abreast of each other.

Just as they reached the end of the boulevard, where the road turns slightly inward toward the approach to the bridge, Clarence was hurled from his bicycle as the car, driven by Mr. Trader, a Moon roadster, struck the bicycle.

Trader stopped his car before he reached the bridge, and untangled the bicycle which was caught in the front end of his machine. It is reported. He then drove back to Menasha police headquarters and gave himself up.

The injured youth was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by Fred Feigl, Appleton. He died about 10:45.

The bicycle on which the boy was riding was completely demolished.

Mr. Trader was accompanied by Frank Rabbert, Plank-rd, Menasha. After viewing the body Friday morning, Stanley A. Slaid, assistant district attorney, and Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, county coroner, decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

"We could not get any more information than we now have by holding an inquest," Mr. Slaid said. "We know how the accident has happened, and Mr. Trader has admitted that he struck the youth."

"As long as defense attorneys in liquor cases will permit defense witnesses to give false testimony in framing up alibis, and as long as juries will acquit on such evidence, there is little hope for prohibition enforcement," said H. C. Runger, Sheboygan. He declared that for any district attorney to attempt to wipe out in one stroke a custom of long standing would be futile.

G. J. Bollau, Wausau, Marathon county district attorney declared that juries don't convict in Moonshine cases, and that he had no intention of arresting manufacturers of home brew. "I'd be a hypocrite if I did," he declared.

SUZANNE'S TENNIS TRIP IN EUROPE IS CANCELED

Nice, France.—(AP)—Suzanne Lenglen's professional tennis tour of Europe has blown up, and the big salary bubbles that fascinated amateur tennis players likewise have burst.

"My tour has been abandoned," said Mme. Lenglen Friday, "although I expect to fill my English engagement." She was unwilling to say why the tour has been called off. There is much talk of her opening a tennis school at Cannes next year.

MENASHA MAN TO BE TAKEN BEFORE COURT

Clarence Voss, 17, Is Fatally Injured on S. Cherry-st

Run down by a motorist on S. Cherry-st just south of Memorial bridge about 10:15 Thursday night, Clarence Voss, 17 year old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Voss, 4225 W. Lawrence-st., was fatally injured.

Young Voss, who was riding a bicycle, died about half later at St. Elizabeth hospital from a compound fracture of the skull, it was reported at police headquarters. There also was a cut about six inches long on the top of his head.

The driver of the death car, Joe Trader Jr., 910 Plank-rd, Menasha, is being held by police. He was arrested in Menasha about an hour after the accident, and lodged in a police cell here for the night. He was to be arraigned Friday afternoon in municipal court, probably on a manslaughter charge.

Mr. Trader reported the accident to James Lyman, chief of police at Menasha, when he arrived in that city, and the latter notified Appleton police of the identity of the motorist.

ARREST DRIVER

Chief George T. Pim dispatched Sgt. John Duvall and Officer A. P. Delgen to Menasha to bring back Mr. Trader with them.

Voss and Leo Schiebler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Schiebler, 1122 W. Spencer-st., were riding their bicycles north on S. Cherry-st, the latter being closest to the curbings. They were proceeding up the street abreast of each other.

Just as they reached the end of the boulevard, where the road turns slightly inward toward the approach to the bridge, Clarence was hurled from his bicycle as the car, driven by Mr. Trader, a Moon roadster, struck the bicycle.

Trader stopped his car before he reached the bridge, and untangled the bicycle which was caught in the front end of his machine. It is reported. He then drove back to Menasha police headquarters and gave himself up.

The injured youth was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by Fred Feigl, Appleton. He died about 10:45.

The bicycle on which the boy was riding was completely demolished.

Mr. Trader was accompanied by Frank Rabbert, Plank-rd, Menasha. After viewing the body Friday morning, Stanley A. Slaid, assistant district attorney, and Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, county coroner, decided that an inquest would not be necessary.

"We could not get any more information than we now have by holding an inquest," Mr. Slaid said. "We know how the accident has happened, and Mr. Trader has admitted that he struck the youth."

FUGITIVE KILLS 3 MEN AND ESCAPES

Redfield, S. D.—(AP)—Death by his own hand at noon ended a posse hunt for Walter Christman, alleged bootlegger, who early Friday shot and killed two officers seeking to arrest him. While 400 armed possemen searched for the fugitive, he shot himself to death while hiding in a straw stack about five miles from his home.

Redfield, S. D.—(AP)—Carl Bintliff, federal agent from Mitchell, S. D., and Charles Halbin of Aberdeen, S. D., deputy state sheriff, and a third man were shot and killed early Friday morning by Walter Christman, farmer-bootlegger at the latter's home, seven miles east of Redfield.

Federal officers had surrounded the Christman home earlier in the evening to arrest Christman, who is fugitive from justice, charged with the fatal shooting of a federal officer.

Christman, stepping from the door of his home, opened fire fatally injuring Bintliff and Halbin. Christman escaped. Over a thousand dollars have been offered for his apprehension.

Shortly before 11 o'clock a third victim of Christman's flight fell. He was reported to be Dave Jones, a farmer living four miles north of Frankfort, a member of the posse that "flushed" Christman near the James river.

SOVIET HOUSE IS HELD BY "BOBBIES" IN LONDON

London.—(AP)—Soviet house in London's historic financial district, continued Friday in the hands of the police, who began a raid there Thursday afternoon. The understanding was that there was not nearly complete, although there were rumors that they had achieved the main purpose of the raid. This purpose was not revealed to the public.

The general belief was that the incident must necessarily be important from a political standpoint, and might lead to a severance of relations between Great Britain and Russia.

In the course of the raid, carried out by 60 uniformed policemen under the direction of Scotland Yard men, the offices of Arcop, Ltd., described as the "sole selling and purchasing agency in Great Britain for the Union of Soviet Socialist republics," were occupied, as well as the offices of the Russian trade delegation.

SENATE TURNS DOWN LAND LEASE BILL

Refuses to Pass Measure Over Governor's Veto by Vote of 16 to 6

Madison.—(AP)—The state senate refused to pass Senator Johnson's bill, relating to the state leases of unsurveyed islands, over the governor's veto Friday. The vote was 16 to 6 against passage.

The Johnson bill, which would allow the state to lease certain islands in the northern section of the state, the revenue to go into the state conservation fund, was not "sound conservation" according to the Governor.

A bill by Assemblyman Don V. Smith, asking that all dealers in poultry be licensed was not concurred in by a 22-6 vote. Lieutenant Governor Huber broke a tie vote, defeating the bill.

Mr. Smith had contended his bill would eliminate chicken thievery which, according to the assemblyman, "is getting to be a good business proposition."

The majority of Friday's session was taken up with clearing all loose ends lying over during the last week, and the senate adjourned to meet next Monday evening.

Politics Rules Assembly, Goodland Tells Senate

Madison.—(AP)—No constructive legislation can be accomplished in the state of Wisconsin so long as "outside forces are influencing votes in the state assembly," Senator Walter S. Goodland charged during an extra session of the state senate Thursday night.

"There is no use of our passing any bill of importance to have it messaged to the assembly and slaughtered there," the senator said. "There is too much political machinery to allow this session of the legislature to get anywhere."

He meant it as a direct attack against the state highway commission and Governor Zimmerman, Goodland explained later.

The senate before adjournment passed the Senator Titus' bill abolishing the office of state oil inspector and placing the inspector under jurisdiction of the state treasury department.

The senate bill allowing juvenile judges discretionary powers in enforcing compulsory attendance in vocational schools was killed by the lower house by a 51 to 21 vote.

The lower house concurred in the senate measure raising the salaries of state supreme court justices from $7,000 to $10,000.

CAR SKIDS INTO DITCH. DRIVER DIES OF INJURIES

Sturgeon Bay.—(AP)—Otto Laucher, 24, died Thursday night of injuries suffered early in the afternoon when his automobile skidded into a ditch five miles west of this city. He was picked up and brought to Sturgeon Bay, where it was found he suffered severe pelvic injuries and was cut about the head and face.

ARREST THIRD MAN FOR FREIGHT CAR THEFTS

FLOOD BREAKS THROUGH DIKE IN TWO PLACES

Waters Invade Fertile Sugar and Rice Districts in Louisiana

New Orleans.—(AP)—Their conquest of the upper valley complete, the flood waters of the Mississippi Friday charged through two crevasses in the Big Bend section of the Bayou Des Glaives levee 150 miles northwest of New Orleans to invade the fertile sugar and rice districts of south central Louisiana.

The breaks ended more than a week of fighting on the part of levee workers to hold back the climbing waters which streamed down upon the Bayou Des Glaives embankments from crevasses on the west bank of the main stream above Natchez and Vicksburg and by the overflow and backwaters of the Red river.

Several breaks were made in the narrow Bayou Des Glaives levees, despite the desperate fight of hundreds of men. Rains added to the hazard, weakening the embankments and saturating the workmen. Many refugees who fled Friday had been struggling against the rising waters for a week. Many were chilled and suffering from exposure.

Breaks along the main Bayou Des Glaives levee were at Moreauville and Brodenville. Both places are approximately 150 miles northwest of New Orleans.

A collapse Thursday in the hastily constructed levee on Bayou Rouge was not expected to materially change the situation in the "Big Bend" district. This crevasse was reported to be a mile wide. Water from two to three feet deep was pouring through it. Engineers stated that its effect would be more or less local, inundating probably not more than 25 miles.

The protection levee at Cottonport was not expected to hold and the 1,000 residents were to be evacuated to concentration points before nightfall.

Telephone communication with the area was severed Thursday night. All reports received came by wireless.

All available boats have been dispatched to the Bayou Des Glaisses area from Natchez, Miss. More than 100,000 persons were in the threatened area.

Harry D. Wilson, state commissioner of agriculture, estimated that a crevasse at Bayou Des Glaisses would cause at least $10,000,000 in damages to agricultural interests.

MILWAUKEE BANK ROBBED OF $5,000

Madison.—(AP)—A lone gunman walked into the Anchor State bank 2414 National-ave, as the whistles of a score of factories in the district sounded the noon hour, and not long after the echo of the last note died out, he walked out again, richer by $5,000.

In the short space of time intervening he had coaxed George Knauer, the cashier, and Lillian Spittel, a stenographer, to do his bidding and on his way out frightened Robert Goetz, a teller who was coming in, into making no outcry.

Before the hundreds of persons, that poured out of the entrance of the Robert A. Johnston factory across the street realized what had happened, the bandit had disappeared around the corner, going north and supposedly put distance between himself and pursuit with an automobile he had thoughtfully parked there.

ACE WHO WILL DARE ATLANTIC ATTENDED U. OF W. IN 1920-21

Madison.—(AP)—Twenty-five-year old Charles Lindbergh, who contemplates a New York to Paris non-stop flight in his monoplane, attended the University of Wisconsin for three school terms in 1920 and 1921.

Enrolled in mechanical engineering department, Captain Lindbergh studied the usual courses but, according to grade statistics at the university, was only a fair student.

He was registered from Little Falls, Minn., but after leaving the university, went to St. Louis, Mo.

Clarence D. Chamberlain, who recently set a world record in his Wright-Bellanca plane, is now preparing for a non-stop hop from New York to Paris in the same machine.

ENGROSS BILL FOR REFUNDING ILLEGAL INHERITANCE TAXES

Assembly Acts on Measure to Repay Funds Received Under Unconstitutional Law

Madison.—(AP)—In a brief and comparatively quiet session the state assembly Friday acted on several important measures. Engrossment of a bill to refund approximately $600,000, collected by the state in inheritance taxes, as the result of a United States supreme court decision, declaring the state's law unconstitutional in classing gifts made six years before the donor's death as being taxable under inheritance tax laws, was outstanding. It was introduced by Assemblyman Duncan.

The lower house also ordered to third reading a bill by Assemblyman Boldt for the interim committee, compelling all students at normal schools in the state to pay tuition fees unless they are honorific residents of Wisconsin. At present non-resident students are exempt from paying fees if they announce their intention to teach in the state after graduation.

PASS STAAB BILL

Assemblyman Staab's bill, setting new and more stringent requirements for the registration of pharmacists, was passed. Assemblyman Nelson's bill, providing for the exemption of farm horses and mules from taxation, was also passed.

After some discussion, a bill by Assemblyman Moore, providing penalties upon parents of children who violate school attendance laws, was referred to the committee on education. The bill called for fines of from $5 to $25 or jail sentences ranging from 5 to 30 days in the event parents were found negligent in the matter of sending children to school in accordance with the law. It was re-referred for the purpose of cutting down the penalties.

LINDBERGH TO COMPETE WITH BERTAUD SHIP

Chamberlin and Co-pilot, Delayed by Weather, Start Saturday

LINDBERGH SETS RECORD Crosses Continent for Attempt to Fly to Paris—Is Non-committal

BULLETIN

Curtis Field, N. Y.—(AP)—The weather on the Atlantic is so unfavorable that the scheduled start of the Bellanca plane on Saturday morning will be at least postponed until Sunday, according to Lloyd Bertaud, co-pilot with Clarence D. Chamberlain of the Bellanca plane Columbia.

New York.—(AP)—Three American planes, slated for non-stop flights to Paris, were berthed on Long Island flying fields Friday and indications were that two of them at least would take off Saturday morning in a race to be the first to cross.

Clarence D. Chamberlain, who recently set a world record in his Wright-Bellanca plane, is now preparing for a non-stop hop from New York to Paris in the same machine.

Several breaks were made in the narrow Bayou Des Glaisses levees, despite the desperate fight of hundreds of men. Rains added to the hazard, weakening the embankments and saturating the workmen. Many refugees who fled Friday had been struggling against the rising waters for a week. Many were chilled and suffering from exposure.

Excitement gripped Long Island flying fields, but the high point was when Lindbergh, a blonde young man, and it was generally believed that Lindbergh would be starting at about the same hour, although he was non-committal as to his plans.

RUSHES OVER CONTINENT

Excitement gripped Long Island flying fields, but the high point was when Lindbergh, a blonde young man, and it was generally believed that Lindbergh would be starting at about the same hour, although he was non-committal as to his plans.

His time was the quickest ever made from the coast to coast. He is the only pilot to have made such a trip alone. His time from San Diego to St. Louis, about 1,600 miles, was 14 hours 5 minutes, and from St. Louis to New York, about 950 miles, 7 hours and 15 minutes. The time made by Lieutenants Kelly and MacReady in their non-stop cross continent flight in 1923 was 26 hours, 50 minutes. Lindbergh showed no signs of fatigue.

Stepping from his single engine monoplane, Lindbergh was a Beau Brummel in a snappy aviators costume. Even his white collar was unrolled.

He is a four-time member of the Caterpillar club, having jumped in a parachute that number of times from aeroplanes to save his own skin.

He began flying at 19, in Lincoln, Neb., where he purchased his own plane and ten months later finished the pursuit course at Brooks Field, Texas.

Lindbergh was born in Detroit, where his widowed mother now lives. Before entering aviation, he studied engineering for four years at the University of Wisconsin.

OFFERS U. S. AID

Washington.—(AP)—President Coolidge Friday sent a message to President Doumergue of France expressing the hope that the two great aviators, Nungesser and Galt, would be found and assuring France that the American government would do everything "humanly possible" in the search for them.

The feasibility of sending the dirigible Los Angeles as far north as the coast of Labrador in the search of the aviators. Nungesser and Galt would be found and assuring France that the American government would do everything "humanly possible" in the search for them.

SEARCH ROCKY AREA

New York.—(AP)—A concentrated search of wild and rocky areas of the western North American Atlantic coast was under way Friday for Captains Nungesser and Galt as new reports fostered the theory that their lost biplane passed over the far covered region last Monday morning.

Support of the belief that the French aviators reached the Atlantic coast was seen in the report of two lobster fishermen that an unidentified plane had passed over St. Mary's Bay, N. S., early last Monday morning. At Harbor Grace, N. F., six persons have said they heard an aeroplane pass over that town the same morning.

American naval hydrographers have offered the theory that the fliers are probably somewhere in Labrador.

COMMISSION HEARS PLEA TO RELOCATE TRUNK HIGHWAY 57

200 People Attend Hearing at Hilbert on Petition to Change State Road

Special to Post-Crescent.
Chilton. Arguments on construction of state trunk highway 57 on a new roadbed along the west side of the St. Paul railroad from Hilbert through Forest Junction, to Askeaton, in accordance with the official layout of 1922, were heard by the state highway commission in a four-hour session in Eagle hall here Thursday. Approximately 200 attended the hearing.

The hearing was held in response to a petition sponsored by the villages of Brillion and Potter in Calumet-co., and joined by property owners of Brown and Manitowish-co. The petition requested the abandonment of the official layout, and suggested that a better route would be eastward at a point of intersection with highway 111 south of Hilbert, eastward and northward on 111 through Potter and Brillion, northward on highway 55 for a distance, and then into Brown-co. to Wausau.

THREE POINTS TO PLEA

Testimony presented in behalf of the petitioners centered chiefly about three points, that to construct the highway via Brillion and Potter would avoid the alleged tremendous cost of construction through the lowlands of the north branch of the Manitowish river between Hilbert and Forest Junction; that no additional mileage would be added to the road system in the state; that a more thickly populated and prosperous community would be served than along the official layout.

A number of pictures were displayed showing the lowlands through which the highway would have to be constructed, as they appeared under flood conditions last March. Opponents contended that the pictures had been taken under abnormal conditions, and a number of farmers residing in the vicinity testified that solid red and blue clay is within eight inches of the surface in many places and nowhere over three feet; that when more substantial roads were impassable last spring, traffic detoured over a road through this very land.

Pictures were presented by business men of the village of Brillion showing that a large number of farmers reside along the petitioned route, that there are a great number of cheese factories, and that inasmuch as Brillion and Potter are for lack of extensive railroad facilities are dependent largely upon motor trucks for transportation of freight, these villages would be entitled to a good outlet in preference to Forest Junction which is served by two railroads.

The defense claimed the completion of the official layout of state trunk highway 18, which runs in a straight line from Brillion to Forest Junction, would afford Brillion a convenient accessible connection with 57 and the regions to which it travels.

CHARACTERISTICS
Henry Hoffman of Stockbridge, chairman of the Calumet-co. board, pointed out that a vast community lying east of highway 57 along Lake Winnebago would be without the service afforded by a state trunk highway if it were related through Brillion, and explained that the official layout would be the most logical route. A representative of the Brown county board, which is now in session, stated that the county had no other in-

OFFER BILLS TO RAISE PAY OF STATE OFFICERS

Madison. (P)—Friday the 13th may prove to be a lucky day for certain state officers—and then again, if the legislature and superintendents work hand in hand, the results may be beneficial.

Recessedness of the date and its traditional significance, the senate committee on corporations and taxation has offered a bill to increase the salaries of five state officers, following up the lead of the recent legislation providing for a $2,500 increase in governor's salaries.

The bill would increase the salary of the state treasurer from $5,000 to $7,000, the secretary of state, and attorney general a like increase and deputy attorneys generals from $4,500 to $5,000. The state superintendent of public instruction would also be a $7,000 a year man if the bill carries.

Interest at stake excepting that the route through Calumet-co. should connect with the Brown-co. pavement at Askeaton.

In addition to those already mentioned, the principal points set forth in favor of the direct route between Hilbert and Askeaton were that it would involve the least mileage, dangerous curves and railroad crossings; that it complies with the principle of state highway construction of connecting county seats and cities of 5,000 population; that it would benefit the public at large rather than any individual community.

J. T. Memacheck of Madison, chairman of the state highway commission, conducted the hearing. Commissioners Bean and Stuedemann, H. J. Kuehling, state highway engineer, and O. C. Trellman of Green Bay, engineer of division 3, also were present. Leo P. Fox of Chilton was the attorney for the petitioners; Attorney Arnold C. Otto of Milwaukee appeared for the communities through which the official layout passes.

OPERATIC NIGHT CHARMS LOVERS OF BEAUTIFUL MUSIC

Musical Festival Closes Tonight
With Symphonic and Choral
Program

Operatic night of the May Music festival at Lawrence college closed Thursday with the most interesting and appreciated musical program given here during the past season. Three of the leading soloists of grand opera, Myrna Sharlow soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera Co., Forest Lamont, tenor of the same company, and Joseph Royer, baritone of the San Carlo Opera Co., sang some of the famous songs from world-known operas and were applauded vigorously. Excellent ensemble work was done by Schola Cantorum of Lawrence conservatory of music and a chorus of 50 men's voices directed by Carl J. Waterman, dean of the school.

Mr. Lamont is a full toned and artistic tenor who put a feeling and warmth of tone into his work that brought forth an ovation from the audience at the close of his solo selections. He sang enthusiastically and with convincing emotion a rhapsody from "Andrea Chénier" by Giordano. Both he and Royer were exceptional in their singing of the finale of the last act of "Faust" by Gounod.

Joseph Royer had a resonant and deep baritone and a pleasing stage appearance that captured his audience. He starred chiefly in the lighter numbers as his solo selection, a cavatina from "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini. Great applause followed his encore "The Vagabond Chorus" from "The Vagabond King."

A rich, clear and true soprano voice as possessed by Myrna Sharlow. Her striking appearance and lovely informality won her hearers who were already charmed by her voice. The wide range of her tones gave some times almost the richness and depth of a contralto, and her higher tones were delightfully clear. She sang "La Mamma Mortu" from "Andrea Chénier" with a lovely quality. The audience recalled her many times and she responded with two encores an Irish folk song and a Negro spiritual which revealed new charm in her voice.

New London.—Can anyone holding a government position as postmaster maintain another business, supposing a law business? Is that against government rules?

The famous sextette from "Lucia" by Donizetti was acclaimed with enthusiasm. In this the three opera singers, were assisted by J. Raymond, Welsh baritone, Miss Dora Elin, contralto, and John Phillips, Green Bay, tenor, and by the Schola Cantorum.

The final trio by Miss Sharlow, Royer and Lamont was the finale from the last act of "Faust". It was the crowning artistic number on the program.

"O Italia Beloved" from "Lucrezia Borgia" by Donizetti and "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman" by Offenbach by the Schola Cantorum were splendidly received. The male chorus was "March of the Peers" from "Iolanthe" by Sullivan. Miss Helen Haertl and Everett Houdeshush accompanied at the organ and piano for the chorus numbers, and Hubert Carlin was at the piano for the visiting artists.

The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra and Schola Cantorum will appear at the second night of the May Music festival Friday.

SUPERIOR TO VOTE ON SCHOOL BOARD

Citizens Will Decide Whether Body Should Be Elective or Appointive

Superior. (P)—Whether Superior will have an elective or appointive school board is the issue to be settled at a special election called for May 24 by the city council. This move followed circulation of petitions by a committee of ten persons organized as result of the school strike which lasted for one month starting April 1.

The committee contends that establishment of such an elective board would remove the possibility of recurrence of the strike, which kept more than a thousand high school students from their work more than thirty days.

The number of signatures required by law on the petition is 700. The petitions filed with the city clerk contained over 3,000 names. Another set of petitions signed by Superior citizens showing their contention that Superior should have the aldermanic form of government instead of the commissioner form now in vogue, has also been filed with the city clerk by the committee of ten.

The city council as yet has taken no action on the latter petitions with the exception of referring them to the city attorney. If a special election is called on the change of form of government and the citizens vote to make the change the city commission will consist of a group of aldermen instead of the mayor and two city commissioners.

It was decided by the committee that what little inconvenience or expense may be occasioned by separating the election is trifling compared with the necessity of finding the right solution to the school problem.

NEED 125 MILLION

TO BLOCK OVERFLOW

OF UNRULY STREAM

Relative Cost of Flood Control is Small, Statistics Indicate

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—The United States will spend $125,000,000 to can forever insure the Mississippi valley from a repetition of this year's disastrous floods, according to the estimate of Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, who has made a survey of the vast flooded region.

Before you decide that that sum is pretty high, consider for a minute what this year's flood has done.

It has inundated some 14,000 square miles of rich agricultural land. It has made more than 300,000 people homeless.

It has caused property damage utterly beyond computation.

By the expenditure of $125,000,000 this country can make sure that nothing like this will ever happen again.

OUR OTHER EXPENDITURES

Does that sum still seem large? Consider some of the other annual expenditures of this, the richest nation on earth.

Military expenditures last year totaled $355,072,226.

Naval expenditures were $312,743,410.

For cigarettes, cigars and other forms of tobacco the people of the United States last year spent $1,570,000,000. Of this, something like $750,000,000 went for cigarettes alone.

Soft drinks and ice cream were bought to the tune of $520,000,000. The theater and amusement bill was $934,000,000.

For candy the nation spent about $689,000,000.

For perfumes and cosmetics American women spent $261,000,000.

Sporting goods took an outlay of $431,000,000.

Chewing gum cost the nation $787,000,000.

Thus, you can see that 7 per cent of our annual tobacco bill or one-fourth of our combined army navy bill would prevent such a great catastrophe as has engulfed the Mississippi valley.

When you stop to think that all of those expenditures came in one year, the $125,000,000 it would take to make the Mississippi floodproof seems even smaller.

Major General Jadwin says the only way to prevent disastrous floods is to build higher and stronger levees, but that the cost of the required levee work would be spread over ten years at a cost of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 a year.

If all of these levees were built the risk of maintenance would probably run about $5,000,000 annually thereafter, according to his figures.

Inasmuch as the United States is now spending some $10,000,000 a year on flood control, about half of which is used in the construction of Mississippi levees, the additional cost of completing the levee system under Jadwin's plan would run between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000.

CIGARETS AND FLOOD CONTROL

Not so high—for a nation that can spend $750,000,000 a year for its cigarettes!

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, after touring the flood area, agreed with Jadwin that levee construction is the only feasible means of controlling the Mississippi. Other programs have been projected which would cost up to $1,000,000,000, but these programs are unofficial.

One hundred and twenty-five million is a big sum—but not for this country. It is not a big sum when one thinks of the 30,000,000 people that the flood has made homeless. It is not large in comparison with the property damage that the flood has cost. It is not large when you stop to think that the death list of 350 will be found considerably larger when all the returns are in.

$3,500 MADE AVAILABLE

FOR FLOOD SUFFERERS

Neenah—Neenah subscriptions to the Mississippi river flood fund have reached a total of nearly $3,500, far in excess of its quota. Five more subscriptions were received at the Red Cross office Thursday. They were from the Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Larson, Mrs. Grace Senneker, Mrs. Marion Smick, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lenz and the Women of the Ku Klux Klan.

DE MOLAY BOYS FORM

TENNIS TOURNEY TEAMS

Neenah—Tennis teams are being organized by Winnebago chapter DeMolay for tournament during the summer. It is expected that 10 teams will be organized.

Seventy-two per cent of Germans and Welshmen who come here are eventually naturalized. Only 10 per cent of the Spanish immigrants and 17 per cent of the Greeks ever become citizens.

DEFER MEETING TO FORM

HOME OWNERS NEAR PROPOSED FACTORY DISTRICT DISAGREE

Council Committee Hears Argument on Amendment to Zone Ordinance

Argument on an ordinance proposing to place two lots along the Chicago and Northwestern railroad right-of-way, north of W. Second-st. and west of S. Mason-st. were heard by the ordinance committee of the common council at a meeting at the city hall Wednesday evening. Practically every home owner in the block where the lots are located, and many from adjacent streets attended the meeting.

One group of residents objected to the ordinance because they claimed a manufacturing district in the block would decrease the value of their homes. They pointed out that they had built their homes in good faith thinking that they were in a residential district. Several property owners who built homes recently stated that if they had known a manufacturing district was to be created they would have chosen other locations.

Another group of property owners near the proposed district declared themselves in favor of the ordinance. They said that they would be glad to have the property improved and in use because it would increase the value of their homes.

Owners of the property in question declared that at present they are paying taxes, and for street improvements and sewers but were not getting any return from their holdings. They pointed out that the property could not be used for home sites because it adjoins the railroad tracks and because the land is too high.

It was said that the logical place for commercial districts is along the railroad right-of-way. It was shown that the land would be used by an oil company which promised to improve the property in a better manner than if it were devoted to home sites.

The ordinance committee, which is composed of Alderman Mark Catlin, chairman, Jerry Calahan, and Phillip Vogt is to make a recommendation to the common council.

THE WISCONSIN IDEA

An example of the way conservation legislation is too often handled in the legislature was the passage of a bill by both houses to open Wisconsin's general fishing season May 15th instead of June 1st, as the law now provides. The bill was objected to by conservationists on good grounds, and it became generally known at the capital that Governor Zimmerman intended to veto it. This led to a hasty reconsideration of the bill and the opening date was set back to May 25th.

Whether Governor Zimmerman will approve the measure we do not know, but according to news dispatches from Madison the move to advance the opening of the season, first to May 15th and then to May 25th, was to accommodate resort owners who wish to have the ban on early fishing removed for the benefit of their guests, particularly on Decoration day. The apparent willingness of the legislature to accede to this special demand shows how much it is concerned with genuine conservation. There is a proper time to open the fishing season, and most authorities are agreed that June 1st is fairly enough. We have proceeded on this supposition in regulating fishing in the past.

Fish and game laws should be enacted to conserve these food supplies and wild life, and not to serve the interests of those who wish to commercialize or exploit them. There is a right time to permit fishing and that time should be rigidly adhered to regardless of how it affects the wishes of a particular class. We have had much trouble in conserving such game fish as bass and pike because of political legislation that did not maintain a closed season over the proper period. Only recently we had to postpone the opening of the bass season to prevent the taking of this diminishing fish off its beds while spawning. We have reached the point where every foot of water in Wisconsin is being intensively fished. Opening dates and open seasons in other states are of no concern here. Our duty is to play safe on the side of fish, so that our supply may be conserved and if anything increased. All of which confirms the advisability of taking conservation generally out of politics and putting it into the hands of trained experts who will recommend legislation and enforce laws for the benefit of the people.

FOREST FIRES

Forest fires in the United States average two hundred a day. This is the startling information that brings home to us the magnitude of the forest fire menace in this country. That, and the fact that the total loss to America every year from forest fires is half a billion dollars, should stimulate us to greater efforts to eliminate this stupendous waste.

It is not only a money waste, but a time waste. In a few minutes a tree is destroyed that took many years to grow. Even if the burned tree were immediately replaced with a young tree, in a reforestation campaign, it would be a long time before the tree was of any value economically. The point is that if we do not reduce the ratio of trees destroyed by forest fires we are soon coming to the time when there will be not enough lumber to cut for normal purposes. We shall have a land of burned timber and young, growing trees, with nothing to meet the timber demand.

The federal forest service and the various states have done much in the last few years in preventing fires and in maintaining fire fighting forces to extinguish and control them when they are started. But for that we should long since have reached the end of our timber supply. But still more energetic measures are needed. As the exodus from the cities goes on new lands are opened to more people and the fire hazard automatically increased many times. An even greater degree of watchfulness and preparedness is necessary if we are to insure the future of our forests, not only as sources of lumber, but as preservers of watersheds and preventers of floods, such as the Mississippi valley is experiencing at the present time. This country needs a forest policy that will adequately care for present and future needs.

THE FLOATING UNIVERSITY

The S. S. Ryndam, the first "floating university" in the world has returned to the United States with 500 students who have given several months to the most profitable college year of their lives. The value to these young men and women of travel under the almost ideal conditions which obtained on this pioneer cruise, is incalculable.

The students who took this cruise visited forty-seven ports in thirty-three countries and traveled over 35,000 miles. During that time they rubbed elbows with all races, all classes and all faiths. They have come to comprehend the vastness of the earth and the brotherhood of man, not necessarily in a religious sense, but in the sense that after all the barriers of race, color, religion and politics cannot destroy the basis similarity of all men.

It is safe to say that when these 500 college students sailed away from the United States on September 18th last, they were quite narrow mentally. Brought up in the average American home, with all the comforts and advantages, imbued with the American spirit of big achievements, they undoubtedly started out with the idea that they were going on a holiday among inferior peoples. They have returned cosmopolitans. They have had the privilege of comparison. They have learned that while we may excel in many ways, there are branches of human knowledge and achievement where other nations and other races have a definite superiority over us.

The floating university idea, although a new one, is a valuable one. More of them should be inaugurated and we should like to see the time come when every college course would have one year conducted on such a cruise.

THE COST OF CRIME

The revised schedule of burglary and robbery insurance rates which have just been announced by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, provides an accurate and rather startling picture of crime conditions throughout the country. Its chief interest is not that it shows a general increase in rates throughout the country, but that some sections of the country are better risks than others, as reflected in varied rates for the same coverage. There is no increase in the rates for residence insurance in New York city and several other large cities. Some increases are noted in medium class cities, while St. Louis and a few others received reductions up to 20 per cent.

In Cook county, Illinois, which embraces the city of Chicago, the activities of hold-up men have brought an increase of 50 per cent for messenger, paymaster and office or store robbery insurance. Rates for warehouses where liquors are stored have gone up 150 per cent. Here, at least is where crime entails a definite cost. Those areas where efficient police protection prevails and where crime is discouraged enjoy lower rates for insurance than do those areas where there is inadequate protection. The cost of crime, therefore, is heaviest upon those who do not take adequate precautions, which is as it should be.

Crime flourishes simply because of rotten politics and inefficient police work. Where a sufficient number of patrolmen are on the streets, where there is an absence of graft, and where there is swift and sure conviction and punishment, crime fades out to a great extent.

OLD MASTERS

I have there is a resurrection day. For before, as the ancient prophets say, When He'll's naked limbs again will gleam. He'll's from the dust of death's long dream— When those who thrilled the ages, being fair, Will take the shining ancient unaware. And make God's perfect meadows doubly sweet With a fragrance of little feet.

THE REMOVAL OF MOLES

A mole is a pigmented "birth mark," a spot, blemish or lesion usually present at birth. Moles vary in size from a pin head to one's hand, in color from yellowish to very dark brown, almost black, and in depth or thickness from a thin flat patch scarcely above the level of the surrounding normal skin to a thick, rough, warty mass in which there may be a number of coarse hairs.

Of course the cause of moles is unknown. This fact gives superstition full play, and so as a rule the mole ignorant a person the mole positively he can tell just how a mole happens. There, indeed, is a kind of universal intelligence test: An individual's intelligence varies inversely with his "credulity" toward yarns about "markings," an unborn child. Although moles are "congenital"—that is, present at birth—they may not be noticed or apparent until a year or two after birth, and in most cases they are first noticed several weeks after birth. They may pass from a smooth to a thick warty surface or from plain to hairy moles after several years, but they do not grow in size, and they last for life unless surgically removed.

The popular impression that a mole is likely to "turn to cancer" in time is founded upon the fact that certain types of moles, particularly black or blue pigmented moles and moles of any color that are much elevated above the skin, tend to develop into malignant or cancerous lesions eventually. But as a rule a simple brown mole is not at all likely to become cancerous at any time in life, unless by ill advised or unskillful attempts at treatment the vicious effect of prolonged or oft repeated irritation is added to the site or presence of the mole.

Often people with moles ask what they should put on or try for the purpose of destroying or removing them. No one except a qualified physician and surgeon should attempt to treat a mole in any situation or in any circumstances.

The physician and surgeon—every physician is a surgeon by virtue of his medical training and his medical degree—has at his command several methods of treatment, and it is a nice technical problem for the physician and surgeon to select the method which is the most appropriate for the individual case, both from the surgical and cosmetic points of view.

In some instances surgical excision is clearly the best treatment. This is particularly so when there is any indication of malignant tendency, and a series of X-ray treatments for the scar should follow surgical removal in such cases.

For cosmetic results, one of the best methods now available to the physician is diathermy, by desiccation of just the right degree to produce moderate dehydration. In skilled hands this is unlikely to leave any scar. In some cases coagulation, actual cooking, by diathermy, is preferable. These methods usually are painless or nearly so, and consequently no anesthetic is required.

Simple electrolysis is suitable for small moles, especially those containing hairs. Fulguration, or sparking, is preferred in some cases. Freezing with carbon dioxide snow—safe only in the hands of a physician and surgeon—is exceedingly satisfactory in many cases of rather large moles.

X-rays give fine results in some cases of hairy moles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

By FLASHES AND H. B. P.

Are hot flashes the cause of high blood pressure during change of life? Can a cup of chocolate milk every night on retiring cause high blood pressure? (Mrs. R. J. H.)

Answer—No. First, there is no such condition as "change of life." Cessation of menstruation at 48 or thereabouts is a normal occurrence and never explains any disorders of health. Hot flashes occur in many women and a few men as a feature of some disorder of metabolism, particularly functional disturbances of the ductless glands. Are you overweight? Overeating and insufficient exercise are common factors of high blood pressure and hot flashes. You will never get anywhere by assuming that high blood pressure is an entity which is amenable to a specific remedy, or that it is caused by a specific treatment for hot flashes. People with these obsessions should halt in their morbid meanderings and undergo a general health examination.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

"AN AMERICAN SAGA"

The unconventional way in which books often have their origin is illustrated by "An American Saga" by Carl Christian Jensen, published last month. Jensen was a social worker out on a tour of investigation of prison camps in the South, with no more idea of writing a book than he had of making a visit to the moon. He wrote detailed descriptive letters home to his wife telling about his daily experiences and impressions. Letters that were meant for her alone. Unknown to him, she sent them to Atlantic Monthly. The editors found them so interesting they suggested an article about his experiences to Jensen. That article grew into a series which in turn grew into the present volume.

"An American Saga" is one of the most charming biographical studies I have read in many months. Its charm comes from a little at the end, after Jensen thoroughly Americanized, but for the most part the narrative is so direct, and honest and so shot through with personality that I would not have missed it for a great deal. I believe "An American Saga" is destined to take its place among the few American autobiographies of genuine distinction.

It is not at all a formidable book in bulk—only 210 pages of "large type." Nor is it formidable in other respects. Jensen seems to be a whole person very much in love with life and he succeeds admirably in transferring his passion to some of his best for living. He does not bore you with the minutia of his existence or with long catalogues of his ancestry, such as autobiographers often indulge in who are obsessed with their own importance. He is charming in very large part for what he leaves unsaid. His book is stimulating to the reader, his pages are a source of light for living. He does not bore you with the minutia of his existence or with long catalogues of his ancestry, such as autobiographers often indulge in who are obsessed with their own importance. He is charming in very large part for what he leaves unsaid.

Jensen was born in Denmark of very humble parentage. The story of his childhood in Denmark is one of the best things of its kind in contemporary literature. He went off to sea and traveled over a large part of the globe in the stockhold of steamships. Again the authenticity of his narrative covering this period of his life is plain on the face of it. He went to New York and without knowing a word of English began his struggle—to become an educated American.

How he starved and struggled, winning something worth while from every experience, how he married an American wife and moved to Chicago, how he worked as a janitor, how he "got religion" of the narrowest type and believed that the world was coming to an end at a specified time, how he attended a seminary of that sect and planned to become a missionary to China, how he peddled religious books over a large part of the United States and Canada on a bicycle, how he became a student at the University of Minnesota and worked his way through that school how he unlearned his fanaticism and shaved off the beard required by his sect, how he graduated and became a social worker—all that is told with a wealth of authentic detail that can be checked only by the word "dramatic." For me the last two or three chapters lacked the charm of the others, but all in all the reading of the book was a real adventure.

Jensen did not set out to be an author but on the evidence of this book it is not at all certain that that is not his real vocation. He is only 28 years old and has a career of activity behind him that would crowd two ordinary lifetimes. It would seem that his equipment for becoming a novelist is singularly complete. He must have material stored up in his mind for a dozen novels.

The foreign agent has not left his action. He admits that himself, but that is not a disadvantage, but an added charm. More important, he has a racial point of view that would probably protect him against the trivial in fiction or in any other department.

WONDERS OF AIR
GROWING GREATER
WITH EVERY YEARAirplanes Are Becoming Safer and Wireless Is Being Perfected

BY FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C. Just the other day the plot of an airplane that carries mail made his 110th trip totaling more than 66,000 miles over a route that necessitates flying over high mountain ranges, from an inter-mountain city to a Pacific coast city, with reversed conditions on the return trip. He has never had an accident. He takes his flying casually, and says that it is far safer than operating an automobile on congested city streets or crowded country highways. With him on his 110th trip he carried a newspaper man from the inter-mountain city who had gone along, as he said, just for the ride. The ride. The newspaper man did not have to walk home, it may be recorded.

Shortly before that broadcasting along the Atlantic coast region was interrupted and stopped one evening because a ship in distress at sea was signalling for help. Nothing was permitted to interfere with the transmission and receipt of the message or call that was a matter of life or death to the voyagers on that vessel. With a "clear air" the distress signal was duly received, aid was promptly forthcoming, and a possible disaster upon the over-rapacious Atlantic was averted.

More recently a new broadcasting organization had its first night on the air. Even the cheapest of crystal sets in Washington made possible a miracle.

In New York distinguished gentlemen made speeches, a wonderful symphony orchestra played, a great chorus sang, world-famous soloists performed, time-honored comedians did their stuff, and numerous orchestras of hotels or night clubs where most Americans would like to be—or, at least, spend a few hours—rendered their stirring numbers, the apotheosis of modernity and jazz in music.

Out in Chicago, Mary Garden, beloved and popular grand opera prima donna, in her studio hotel apartment sang "Annie Laurie" and another song that is no more marvelous than her personality.

AUDIENCE OF MILLIONS

Out of somewhere came a half-hysterical voice proclaiming that its owner was almost delirious over the fact that he was performing for an audience of possibly 50,000,000 people. Why shouldn't he be delirious? Not a few years ago, a stage performance drew a maximum of 1,500 to 2,000 audience; grand opera might have an audience of 4,000; an inter-collegiate championship football game might command an attendance of 20,000; or a world series baseball game might draw 40,000 enthusiasts through the closely-guarded gates.

And then, from Independence, Kansas, came the voice of Will Rogers, not so halting or so rasping as it once was, but far less needing his larrikin, his gun-chewing, his friendly grin, and his other "business" in order to put it over. Rogers is now so pre-occupied in his line that anything can be written about him without incurring the charge that the writer is pre-arranging him.

A man who asked the Prince of Wales how he was getting on, said:

when he was dumped at the jumps, who told Mussolini that he ought to smile once in a while even if it cracked his face, who has said of the Russians that no nation can amount to anything whose people do not put their shirt-tails inside their pants, and who was informed the French that the inventing of delectable aperitifs and the designing of intriguing frocks will not offset a certain war debt, can get away with almost anything.

And Rogers does not away with everything. He went abroad and wrote a series of magazine articles that purported to be the observations of himself as a self-constituted observer for President Coolidge, and yet, despite a possible presidential prejudice and an immigration law that bars persons guilty of moral turpitude, he was permitted to slip by the Goddess of Liberty in New York harbor when he came back.

He said, in his stint on the air, that the affair which President Coolidge went from Washington to Kansas City to dedicate, looked more like a sio than a monument, and nothing happened to him.

He boasted that on his recent return from Europe, Mary Garden had kissed him, asked his auditors to consider what it meant to get the odor of Mary Garden perfume off the original, and challenged Mrs. Rogers "somewhere in California," to hearken for what he was saying, and, to date, neither wire nor wireless has reported that he's in the kind of a mess that he ought to be, considering his ways.

The Question Box

Q. How many Indian reservations are there in the United States? J. H. A. There are about 160.

Q. Is it true that the United States has had a different flag for every war in which it has participated? C. E. W. A. It is.

Q. For the Revolutionary War the flag consisted of 13 stripes with 13 white stars in a circle on a blue field; for the second war with England, 1812, it consisted of 15 stripes with 15 stars; for the Mexican War, 1846, it consisted of 13 stripes and 23 stars; during the Civil War there were 13 stripes and 34 stars and before the war ended two new stars were added to represent West Virginia and Nevada; for the war with Spain, 1898, the flag had the conventional number of stripes and 45 stars; and for the World War it had 48 stars.

Q. Why did Philip H. Sheridan go to Washington, D. C., and leave his army when he knew Jubal Early and his army were in the same valley—the Shenandoah Valley? B. L. S. A. In the Personal Memoirs of P. H. Sheridan, the General himself answers your question. A telegram dated "Headquarters Armies of the United States, Washington, D. C., October 16, 1861," and signed "H. W. Halleck, Major-General, Chief of Staff," concluded as follows: "If you can leave your command with safety come to Washington, as I wish to give you the views of the authorities here." After due consideration and great reluctance, General Sheridan proceeded to Washington, where he arrived on the 17th. He left the capital on the 19th.

Q. To whom was the Lion of Lucerne erected as a monument? H. C. R. A. The model for the Lion of Lucerne was executed by Thorwaldsen. The Lion is carved out of the side of a granite. The memorial commemorates the defense of the Tulleries in Paris, August 10, 1792, by the Swiss guards. All were massacred by the mob.

Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—Manhattan has smiled in a merry manner upon scores of muttony ladies, who came here when widowhood or ill fortune overtook them on the Main streets of the nation.

If they made a particularly luscious salad at the Thursday tea of the old home town they found thousands of Manhattanites eager to try it. The fudge they turned out casually in Kokomo became a comfortable fortune off Broadway.

The other night I met a woman well past her mid-years who came to this town not so many years ago and, going to the manager of one of the oldest and proudest of the hotels on "the Avenue," got the opportunity of setting tables for special holiday parties.

Today she has a big shop in this hotel and another on Park avenue. She caters to society functions, her candy is eaten by Mrs. Coolidge and her ice cream, designed in all colors and shapes, is delivered to the homes of the wealthy. She advises young men what to buy the girl friend when she sails for Europe and tells young brides how to arrange the reception room. And she can scarce handle the large business.

And, she told me, all this was learned—not in New York—but back in the old Kentucky home.

There is the famous case of Alice Foster McDougall, who started out by serving coffee, tea and waffles. Her "coffee and waffles" had that "old home" taste.

The other day she was able to buy the site on which she started for a million or more and has her own tea and coffee importing establishment.

For New York is made up of all the peoples of all the Main streets and they'll travel a long way to find something that reminds them of the old town cooking.

On the other hand there are the smart shops of Park avenue.

Practically all of the are operated by aristocratic women of elderly appearance. Most of the Main streets and made connections with New York stores, learned the fashions and the art fads and finally started in business. Many more began with a small inheritance, made a study of European vogues and imported foreign novelties.

Their shops line one of the most exclusive shopping districts of the world.

One of the most successful business women in this city charts the stars for prominent people. Her Carnegie Hall studies are so flooded with the superstitious that she has many times been forced to boost her fees to keep away the horoscopically inclined.

The cosmetics and beautifiers have come to a fabulous fortune. One nimble-minded and clever woman made a quick clean-up teaching New York how to behave in the presence of Queen Marie of Rumania and a girl, I know has moved from a back hallway to a palatial apartment by coaxing prominent women into lending their names to a beauty cream preparation.

Spain, 1898, the flag had the conventional number of stripes and 45 stars; and for the World War it had 48 stars.

LABOR OBJECTS TO MOVE TO ABOLISH CITY NURSE JOB

Trades and Labor Union Oppose Bill Changing Compulsory School Law

The city nurse is the poor man's nurse and any money paid to her as salary is well spent, members of the Appleton Trades and Labor council decided as it went on record as opposed abolishing the position at the semi-monthly meeting Wednesday evening in Trades and Labor hall. The council adopted a resolution instructing Adolph Guyer, the labor representative on the board of health, to do all in his power to retain the city nurse.

Every member of the council voted in favor of keeping the city nurse. Her monthly reports show she is earning her salary and any money paid in the interest of protecting the health of the city is well spent, it was said.

"Many poor men cannot afford to pay the high prices charged by independent nurses and they have come to depend on the city nurse for help when sickness and disease threaten," one member declared. "It would be a great mistake to abolish the office of city nurse and it certainly would be false economy."

The council also opposed the proposed law to change the compulsory school attendance age limit. The legislature had already established a well defined vocational education system and any change would be a backward step, the members said.

The demand for the change comes from several small groups, particularly employers of child labor and a few county judges who harbor a viewpoint which was prevalent in past centuries but which is discarded now, it was pointed out. It would be a mistake to adopt this measure at present, the council decided.

Opposition was expressed by the council to a measure now before the legislature which provides that the circuit court may determine when a strike is at an end. A bill which gives the Industrial commission the authority to issue orders making reasonable modifications in the one-day rest-in-seven law, after investigation in certain industries, and another proposing to increase the pay of the jantors employed in the capitol were approved.

"The labor situation in the paper industry in Canada and the United States is good," declared W. R. Smith of Albany, N. Y., president of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers in a short address before the council. Mr. Smith stated that contracts between the paper manufacturers and the laboring men had been renewed and that satisfactory terms had been arranged in every case. Only a few minor adjustments remain to be made.

Mr. Smith said all contracts provided for an adjustment of the wage scale which would give wage increases to men in practically every department of the paper making industry. In return for this readjustment the laborers have agreed not to strike. Mr. Smith stated:

Congressman George J. Schneider, who accompanied Mr. Smith to the meeting, gave a short talk in which he stressed the importance of organization.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

Although it was nearly one o'clock—past the normal hour for adjournment for lunch—neither the jury nor the audience seemed to rest on account of hunger. Banning, flushed with pride at the sensation which his witness' testimony had created, went on with the examination of the farmer, Jefferson Anderson.

"Now, Mr. Anderson, I want you to try to remember anything else that you overheard, and tell this jury exactly what it was."

"Well," the farmer considered, scraping his chin thoughtfully with a work-worn forefinger. "I heard her yell out, 'You sinner! Stop it! Don't tell me any more.' And a little bit later she was crying hard, real loud, and she screamed, 'I'm going home! I won't live with you!'"

"Yes, yes, Mr. Anderson, and did you hear anything else?" Banning asked excitedly.

"Well, yes, I did—once," Anderson answered, his dull grey eyes lighting up. "I heard the lady say something like this—'To think I got rid of Ralph Cluny for a thing like you!'"

Cherry gasped at Cluny's confession, her white face suddenly aflame with color. The lawyer listened attentively, nodding as Cherry whispered breathlessly.

Banning's voice, as he put his next question, was loud and triumphant:

"You say the defendant said 'something like this'—'To think I got rid of Ralph Cluny for a thing like you!'"

"Now, Mr. Anderson, remember you are on oath. Are those the actual words of the defendant, as nearly as you can remember them?"

"Yes, they are. That's what she said. I said to my wife, 'Here's pretty howdy-do—'"

"Never mind what you said to your wife, Anderson," Banning smiled.

"Now, Mr. Anderson, can you remember anything else that you overheard that night, anything said either by the man or the woman occupying your spare room?"

"Well, the man didn't talk as loud as the girl," Anderson grinned. "But I heard him say once or twice, or maybe more, 'Don't be a little fool!'"

"We're married now, and you're going to make the best of it!" And once he yelled out at her, 'Shut up! You're making enough noise to wake up the dead!'"

"Very well, Mr. Anderson. Now go on with your story. When did you and your wife get up?"

"I got up at half past six and made a fire in the kitchen range, and then went out to do my chores—milk and feeding. When I got in from milking, my wife was cooking breakfast."

"Had Mr. and Mrs. Wiley appeared by that time?" Banning prompted.

"No, sir. Me and the wife had our breakfast about 7:15, and it was about a quarter of eight when the man—"

"Wiley—came out of their bedroom and asked for hot water for shaving and washing up. He said him and his wife would have breakfast in a few minutes and then go on their way. Wiley said they was bound for Chicago on their honeymoon."

"Did they look like a happy married young couple, in love with each other?" Banning persisted.

"Far from it," the farmer answered positively.

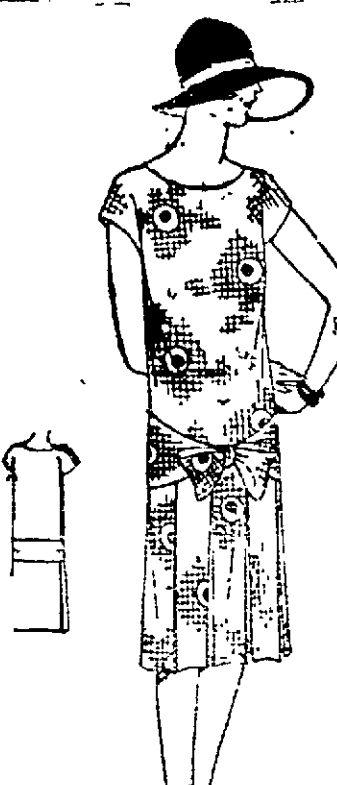

Before Banning could put another question to his witness, Judge Grimshaw announced an adjournment for lunch. Just as Cherry was led away, she flung her arms about Faith's neck, and whispered brokenly:

"He's got it in for me, Faith! I'm scared. I'm scared! But you know I didn't do it, don't you?"

"TOMORROW," Alice Cluny Albright is victim of big jewel robbery and Faith and Bob hopelessly review Cherry's trial.

AIMEE BOBS HER HAIR--

BY OLIVE ROBERTS GILTON

AFTER the hair bobbing business has died down, gossiping speaking and Aimee Semple McPherson, too, has died down, also gossiping speaking, up they come again—this time together.

Just because Mrs. McPherson had her hair bobbed, half her church stampeded, Aimee with long hair could do no wrong. She could dramatize religion by band concerts, movies, tableaux and any gesture that attracted crowds to Angelus Temple and managed herself to be chief promoter in the most dramatic disappearance the world has staged since John Orth. Her church stood by her to a man. But out comes her hair and, like Sampson, her power is broken.

If any one asks me the three vital problems of the church, I would say prohibition, fundamentalism and bobbed hair. The human race was a peculiar partiality for walking over luted gelatine, 4 tablespoons. Lemon juice, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water.

Chop greens very fine. Soften gelatine in cold water for ten minutes and dissolve in boiling water. Stir until thoroughly dissolved and let sit slightly. Add lemon juice and let stand until it begins to set. Fold in greens. Line one large mold or six small ones with slices of hard cooked egg. Add the gelatine mixture taking care not to disturb the eggs. Let stand until chilled and firm. Turn out of molds and serve on shredded lettuce with a tart salad dressing. WOMEN CAN NOW DO MORE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Keeps Them Well

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught in the common school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unifab factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it. Household Hints

PAINT SPOTS

Paint spots on clothing should be rubbed with kerosene and left to stand a few hours before washing.

BRIGHTENED CARPETS

A dingy carpet can be brightened immeasurably by sponging with warm water that has a fair amount of ammonia in it.

FLOOR COVERING

If covering rough floors with linoleum, a layer of river sand or old newspapers under the linoleum will lengthen the life of the covering.

UNIRONED BATH TOWELS

Bath towels dried outdoors are fresher and sweeter when not ironed. Fold evenly when taking from line and stack as if ironed.

CLEAN ENSEMBLES

Sports ensembles of fancy leather shoes, purse and handbag should be cleaned simultaneously. Having shoes shined separately will darken them so they no longer match.

SHINE REMOVER

For the blue suit that gets shabby, nothing is better than a sponge with strong indigo bluing water and a press with a black woolen cloth.

TIME SAVERS

Patty shells and timbales are worth their price in summer. Odds and ends of meat, fish, vegetables or even creamed eggs served in shells make delightful and easy lunch or supper dishes.

WHITENING SILKS

Never wait for a white silk blouse or silk underwear to get yellow before whitening. Use whitening rinses from first washing.

LUNCHEON DISH

Creamed macaroni, baked with layers of crushed peanuts and a sprinkling of parsley, makes a luncheon dish that is different.

TIGHTENED SCREWS

To tighten a screw, put into the hole bits of sponge dipped in glue.

CORN

Quick relief from painful corns, tender toes and pressure of tight shoes.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

OLD Daffydoo said, "Mercy me, that's just as fine as it can be. I never saw a diving board that looked much better, boys. You've used the hammers mighty well and made the thing turn out real swell, so I'll forgive you gladly now, for making all that noise."

The Tinymites then went to bed, and Clowzy, very loudly said, "Let's get up very early so that we can take a swim. I think we need some sleep tonight. Whir, I'm so tired. I feel a fright. A very restful snooze will make us all feel right in trim."

So, soon you couldn't hear a peep. The whole tired bunch was sound asleep. Old Daffy smiled to see the bunch. They looked so very small. Then Daffy, too, grew weary quite as it was growing late at night. It wasn't very long until he heard the sandman call.

Next morning they were up and out and all the Times rushed about to hop into their bathing suits and take a cooling swim. They reached the dock cooling swim. They reached the dock that they had made, and round about it they all played. Old Daffydo just smiled and said, "I never saw such fun."

Then out upon the dock they went and about an hour or so was spent in taking just a sunning bath which all of them thought fun. Then something happened very quick, and nearly made the Times sick. It really spoiled their morning, 'cause it wrecked the work they'd done.

Some monstrous swordfish swarmed about and made the whole band loud shout. "Oh, Daffy, can't you stop them? And you'll have to do it now." But soon the swordfish saw the dock and then the Times saw it rock and sway. Fall. But all of them went swimming anyhow.

(The Times see a funny elephant in the next story.)

Have You Had Your Hard
Luck On Friday The 13th

Did you open an umbrella in the house this morning? It was taking unnecessary chances on Friday the thirteenth for it was only raining out doors.

And a boy who ordinarily uses his ears instead of eyes to step out of the way of approaching trucks and other vehicles almost was out of luck this morning. But the only accident was that the driver lost his temper.

Owners of used cars closed up shop because people only seemed to be looking. Nobody bought anything, it was reported, for their faith in the tires was not strong. One day in the year flat bottles on the hip were turned down by usually over eager friends. Chances are too many on Friday the thirteenth.

Try nailing a horseshoe over the front door just to be on the safe side. It will be interesting to know how

SENATE CONSIDERS CURB FOR AMBULANCE CHASERS

Madison—(P)—As a follow up on the Milwaukee ambulance chasers question, which has evolved into an argument concerning professional ethics among Wisconsin attorneys, the senate committee on judiciary introduced a bill into the upper house yesterday tending to curb alleged unethical practices.

The bill declares it to be unprofessional conduct and grounds for disbarment for any attorney to stir up strife and litigation or to hunt up causes of action and inform thereof in order to be employed to bring suit.

The bill further considers ground for disbarment in any practice which would "breed litigation by seeking out those having claims for personal injuries in order to secure them as clients or to employ agents or runners for a like purpose or to reward any person, police officer or hospital attendant etc., who would be instrumental in bringing such information to an attorney."

"In such cases as stated above," the bill continues, "the client may recover all fees paid the attorney in question and the attorney will not be allowed to prosecute the case."

MIDNIGHT IS LAST DEADLINE FOR NEW LEGISLATIVE BILLS

Legislature Will Have to Be Satisfied With Measures That Are Now in

Madison—(AP)—Faced with closing of the bills for the session at midnight Friday night the lower house Thursday saw an influx of committee bills almost equal to that staged by individual members at the deadline on their bills some time ago.

More than a score of measures were sent to the revision committee which will formally introduce them after reviewing them for legal wordage and correct intent.

The insurance and banking committee brought in a bill raising the required aggregate amount of capital stock in organizing banks. It would require $25,000 capital stock in new banks in towns of less than 5,000 population. The present requirement is $15,000. The required capital in new banks in towns five to ten thousand population would be increased from $30,000 to $35,000.

The finance committee would increase the minimum allowable compensation allowed under the workmen's compensation act from $1,000 to $1,600. Other increases in compensation for loss of use of eyes and ears are provided and a clause is inserted providing that the attorney general shall request the state in certain workmen's compensation cases.

Under another bill by the same committee the fund for the hospital of the State Veterans' Home would be transferred from the university fund income to the general fund.

SEEK BUILDING SITE
The public welfare committee brought in a bill authorizing the governor, attorney general, secretary of state and treasurer and the superintendent of public property to consult with the federal government for the site of the present Madison post office, the site to be purchased if available at "fair" price for a future state office building. A new federal building is being built.

Another bill by the same committee provides for withholding 3 per cent of the monthly salaries of state conservation wardens for a retirement fund for these officials.

The highways committee was author of a bill to hold to $100,000 the money that counties may give to the construction of a bridge on a state trunk highway, in the benefited county. The law at present provides that the county shall give fifty per cent of the cost. This clause is kept in the law, but one is added that this amount shall not exceed $100,000.

Other bills by the same committee appropriate $25,000 annually to the state highway department for laboratory and field research in highway materials, appropriate $100,000 annually for the state's share in grade crossing improvements on state trunk highways, and provide that all contracts for state construction or building or work of any kind shall be let to Wisconsin firms or individuals.

With two amendments to the vocational school attendance law in hand, the assembly killed the Poleszewski bill cutting from 18 to 14 years the age limit to which children must attend the vocational institutions. The Senator Goodland bill giving judges discretionary power in allowing discontinuance of vocational school attendance was taken up at a recessed session late Thursday afternoon.

Several outside contractors are preparing to enter bids on the work also. The improvements include a modern store front and extensive interior changes.

Tools and equipment of the street department are being put into readiness for a complete inventory which is to be taken next Monday. Alderman Miles Steinman, chairman of the streets and bridges committee of the common council, has asked for the inventory.

English officials traveling at public expense now must go the cheapest way whether by rail or motor bus.

This convention will bring to Milwaukee a large gathering of nuns from all parts of the United States and Canada. The hospital clinical congress will be held under the auspices of the college of hospital administration of Marquette university.

Father Moulinier, regent of the college and Dr. John R. Hughes, dean, are supervising arrangements now being made by the college of administration.

SCHOOL AVIATION CLUB MAY BE REORGANIZED

The aviation club at Appleton high school may reorganize with some town group and become separate from the school because of lack of cooperation by other students in the school, it was suggested at a meeting of the club.

A picture of the sign on the top of the school will be taken soon, it was decided. The sign consists of the word "Appleton" in 17 foot size letters, and was painted there to assist flyers going through the city.

Change Service Time
Beginning Sunday, May 15, German services will be held at 8:45 instead of 9 o'clock at St. Matthew church, the Rev. Ph. A. C. Froehke, pastor, announced. English services will be held at 10:10.

STAGE And SCREEN

"BETTER OLE" IS BIG WAR PICTURE

While Warner Bros. production of "The Better Ole," starring Syd Chaplin and directed by Charles F. Reisner has been hailed as one of the greater comedies ever filmed, it is also one of the big pictures of the World War. Unlike most war pictures, every by "The Better Ole," which is the picture of Bruce Bairnsfather, world famous cartoons and stage-play revealing around the character of Old Bill Dushy the British Tommy, is staged in the war zone in the front line British trenches or in the French village or countryside just behind them.

"The Better Ole" is in no sense a burlesque. Everything is as nearly technically correct and like the real thing over there, as real German and British soldiers who served during the war, an unlimited amount of research, a French designer and several military technical directors, could make it. Nothing is far-fetched or ridiculously improbable.

Reisner has simply taken the war as it was, left out as much of the tragedy as possible, and emphasized its humorous aspects. "The Better Ole" has thrills, suspense and menace as well as every kind of laughter. It has some of the greatest battle scenes ever made, and some of the most idyllically picturesque rural settings. It is not just a loose-knit stringing together of irrelevant gags, but a logical, articulate, absorbing story told from a humorous viewpoint.

Mr. Chaplin is supported by Doris Hill, Harold Goodwin, Theodore Lorch, Ed Kennedy, Charles Gerard, Tom McGuire, Jack Ackroyd, Tom Kennedy, Arthur Clayton, Kewpie

Morgan and 500 ex-British and German soldiers.

"The Better Ole" comes to the Appleton Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

SWEAT SHOP GIRL MADGE BELLAMY'S LATEST STARRING ROLE

Madge Bellamy, who scored a tremendous hit in "Sandy" and "Summer Bachelors," will open a two day engagement at the New Bijou in "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl."

It is an intensely human story of a girl who finds love and happiness in a great metropolis after a long and perilous struggle.

Bertha, finding herself in a sweatshop with two girl companions, decides to improve her condition by seeking a finer outlet for her talents. She knows she can draw well, for there is an artistic strain in her makeup, and she yearns for the opportunity to prove what she can do.

This opportunity comes when a position is offered Bertha in the offices and display rooms of the Diana Lingerie Company.

With the opportunity, however, there appears the ugly suggestion of night life and forced gaiety.

Bertha, a common-sense girl, is tempted again and again but, through the help and guidance of Roy Davis, whom she accepts at his face value—as a shipping clerk—she triumphs over the man who seeks her company and finally aids Roy in sending this man to prison on charges of criminal conspiracy.

She then discovers that Roy is not a clerk, but is the son of the owner of the company.

He met at luncheon with the Children's Code committee of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, of which he is a member.

College Training for Leadership was the subject of an address at the Menasha Rotary club Wednesday noon. He spoke on George Washington's Foreign Policy before members of the Teachers club of Iron Mountain Wednesday evening.

Kaukauna Farmer Was About Ready To Give Up Hope

Suffering was so great he was always depressed and melancholy. Tells of relief brought by Dreco.

Since the introduction of Dreco in Appleton never a day passes but that someone comes in and speaks in the highest terms about it. Only a few days ago the following signed statement for publication was given the Dreco Expert at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store where local people are calling to have the merits of this great remedy explained.

It is from Mr. James Walsh, a very popular Route No. 3, Kaukauna, Wis. farmer, who says: "Only a person who has suffered as I have these past few years can realize the misery I was in and forgive the depressed, melancholy, stouche condition I was in. I was incapable of enjoying life myself and killed the enjoyment of those around me."

"I suffered agonies with acute indigestion and gastritis in spite of every care taken in eating. I was always constipated, suffered with severe

WARNING LIGHTS PLACED IN RIVER

United States Tug Wolf Returns from Annual Spring Trip on Stream

The United States government tug Wolf returned this week from the annual spring trip on which navigational aids were set out in the river and lake. The trip was started about a week ago. Red warning lights and buoy taken from the river at the close of navigation last fall and stored in the government sheds along the banks have been replaced.

Four new automatic acetylene lamps have been placed on the river, according to A. P. Everett, United States engineer. They are controlled by a delicate mechanism sensitive to light and darkness. When night comes on the mechanism causes the lamp to ignite and to remain lighted until dawn, when the light is turned off.

Two lights have been installed at the lower end of the lake just above Menasha and two have been placed on Lake Poygan. They are a great improvement over the old style oil lamps which had to be lighted every evening and put out in the morning. It is probable that additional lamps will be placed on the river next year.

sets at $20 worth of household goods, all of which he claimed as exempt. No creditors of Paul E. Christen, 214 E. Pacific-st., appeared for the first meeting which was set for Tuesday afternoon.

7 U. W. CLASSES PLAN REUNIONS

Practically All Survivors of Class of 1872 Will Attend Commencement

Madison—(P)—George S. Sutherland, president of the University of Wisconsin class of 1872 has written University alumni authorities that ten members of his class, practically the entire surviving membership will attend the reunion festivities coincident to commencement week.

Seven classes of alumni will hold reunions at the time of the June celebration. They have named representatives to attend the reunion for the alumni-senior banquet on the evening of Alumni Day, June 18.

E. F. McCormick, chairman of the General Alumni association, announced these class representatives today: Philip Eden, 1872; Miss Mary Hill, 1877; Ernest Warner, 1889; Prof. J. P. Parry, 1892; Senator Harry E. Sauthoff, 1902; Prof. Harry Steinhilber, 1908; Miss Calla Andrus, 1910.

The class of 1877 has named John C. Rathbun of Seattle, Wash., to speak as its representative at the banquet, and will have a large delegation at the reunion. Class members of the class, both graduates and ex-students.

The class of 1908 has arranged for three sections of the men's dormitories to house returning members. The class of 1877 has selected Seymour, a home here as headquarters.

Detailed programs of the alumni-senior dinner, of the Alumni day activities preceding the dinner, and of the alumni-senior reception by President and Mrs. Glen Frank and the dance which will follow the reception are being prepared.

ANNOUNCE SPEAKERS AT COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

Guy Stanton Ford, dean of the graduate school of the University of Minnesota, the Rev. H. H. Lumpkin, rector of an Episcopal church in Madison, and Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, will be the speakers at the commencement functions at Lawrence college, it has been announced. The president will give the commencement address Monday June 13 when degrees will be awarded.

Dodge Brothers Add Convertible Cabriolet to Line

Dodge Brothers, Inc., announces the addition of a distinctive new car to its line—a convertible cabriolet with rumble seat which will be a companion car to the present sport roadster. The new coupe is unusually smart looking and with its rumble seat, utility and style are admirably combined.

The body lines are long and racy and the color scheme is exceptionally attractive, according to R. K. Wolter of the Wolter Motor Co., local Dodge Brothers dealer. The body is hinged in armory green and contrasts strikingly with the tan top and lustrous black fenders and shields. The belt moulding around the body is black, striped with armory green and cream adding materially to the coupe's smart appearance.

The top is of tan colored waterproof material of unusual durability. The braces are so constructed that in folding it down the material will not be cracked or worn by rubbing. A boot can be used to protect it from dust and water when it is folded.

It is very easy to lower, being only necessary to unhook two latches at the upper corners of the windshield. When raised it fits the windshield in such a manner that no water can enter, even in the worst storm.

The deep comfortable cushion and back of the rumble seat like the upholstery in the front, are of green Spanish genuine leather constructed over spring frames to assure maximum riding ease. The back is high and tilted at a comfortable angle.

The deck is so constructed that when the seat is folded down the rear compartment is absolutely waterproof. The interior of the car is leather upholstered and the appointments are finished in nickel. The glass covered panel on which the instruments are mounted is finished in green gold, harmonizing with the colors of the body.

400 TO COMPETE IN COMMERCIAL TESTS

Students Representing 125 Schools in State Will Gather at Whitewater

Whitewater, Wis.—(P)—Nearly four hundred commercial students from 125 schools in the state will compete here Saturday for honors in the annual Wisconsin Commercial contests. Speed and accuracy in typing, shorthand, calculation, penmanship and bookkeeping will constitute the events in which competition will be carried on.

Students from scores of high schools and vocational schools of the state are eligible for the contests, having scored high points in 22 district contests sponsored by the Whitewater Normal school, the same school being responsible for the final competition. Winners of first, second and third places in the five events at district meets are eligible to compete here. In the final tests, the school which the winner of each event represents will be awarded a cup. The winners name, his record and the school he represents will be engraved on the cup each year, the cup to be in the possession of the winning school for the school year. At the time of the state contests the cup is returned to Whitewater normal until the cup is won two years in succession when it becomes the permanent property of the school.

A team cup will be awarded to the school receiving the largest number of points. To the individual winner in each event will be awarded an engraved certificate and the title "state champion" in that event. The high school and vocational school contestants will be entered in separate classes.

Rules governing the typing contests are sanctioned by and under the regulations of the International Typing Committee. To enter the Junior typing, the contestant must have begun the study of the subject on or after the last September preceding the contest. A committee of disinterested correctors will score the papers in the final tests, approximately ten words being deducted for each error.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE IS GRANTED TO CAST

A leave of absence has been granted Prof. G. C. Cast of the German department at Lawrence college to extend over the second semester of the next school year. The professor will go to Germany to study at the University of Munich and will travel in western Europe the following summer. Dr. Cast will teach at Lawrence the first semester term.

NEW YORK TEAMS HOLD LEADS IN LEAGUE PENNANT CHASES

Giants Beat Alexander To Take Two-Game Lead Over 1926 World Champs

Alex Forces Macs to 11-inning Game; Yanks Whip Brownies by 4 to 3

The pennant races in both major leagues Friday settled down to a grim pursuit of New York's pennant candidates. Displaying no visible signs of yielding to aggressive thrusts from their western rivals the Giants and Yankees Thursday definitely established their right to lead the chases in both circuits by heading off twin challenges from St. Louis. It required 11 innings for the Giants to subdue the Cardinals, 2 to 1, while the Yankees shaded the Browns in regulation time, 4 to 3.

The Giants, as a consequence Friday held a clean cut advantage of two games over the world's champions in the National, while a similar margin in the American was held by the Yankees and second-place Chicago.

McGraw's cohorts found Grover Alexander decidedly a more stubborn pitcher than Jess Haines had proven the previous day. Although the veteran yielded 13 hits in what the poets here called "the year," it was only through an error by Douthett that the Gotham club emerged upright. A dropped fly by the Cardinal centerfielder allowed Terry to sneak home with the winning run.

The defeat endangered the Cardinals' second place, for the Pirates shot up to within a single game of O'Fallon's contingent by outslugging the Braves in a slugfest, 8 to 7. Wright led the Pittsburgh batting onslaught with a single, double and triple.

Being timely behind good pitching by Root, the Cubs spilled the Phillies out of the first division, 4 to 1 and took possession of fourth place. At the same time Dazzy Vance pitched and batted the Brooklyn Robins to a decisive victory over the Cincinnati Reds, 6 to 3. Pittsburgh's help to four bingles but was unwilling to yield more than that to the entire Cincinnati club, which was buried in the cellar Friday under a two-game layoff.

The Yankees-Browns game developed into a pitching duel between Herb Pennock and his former team mate, Sad Sam Jones. Each allowed nine hits but the Yankees crushed theirs in the fourth and fifth, with Babe Ruth's double accounting for the deciding tally.

Second place fortifications were strengthened by the White Sox with a 5-4 verdict over the Senators while Detroit aided the Chicago cause by smothering a belated Philadelphia bid in the ninth to win at 9 to 7.

MARQUETTE TRACK TEAM TO BATTLE RIPON SQUAD

Milwaukee—Coach Conrad M'Jennings' Marquette university varsity track squad will participate in its only outdoor dual track meet to be held at home this season, Saturday afternoon, when Ripon college will furnish the opposition. Last Saturday, Marquette defeated Lawrence college at Appleton, 10 to 6, and Ripon edged out the Oshkosh Normal team. Saturday's meet will provide the last local collegiate appearance of Capt. Melvin Shumek, Marquette's brilliant distance runner, and recent star of the Drake and Kansas relay teams. To make it a twin team bill, the Marquette freshman squad will engage in a dual meet with Riverside high school, Milwaukee.

KRATZ, BREAST STROKE STAR, TO HEAD BADGERS

Madison—Winston Kratz, of Louisville, Kentucky, named on the Western Conference selection of outstanding breast stroke swimmers and winner of equal distinction in the medley relay division, has been chosen to pilot the Cardinal merman next season.

The selection of Kratz as leader of the Wisconsin swimming team is viewed with pent-up enthusiasm here among amateur artists and fans. Kratz has gained recognition not only in the Big Ten, but also annexed the National Intercollegiate title at Iowa

Senator Hurling Star Pitches For Dairy Farm

BY BILLY EVANS

"Make this lady hit something tough, 'Luzee'!"

"Bear down on 'the one, 'Luzee'!"

Sounds like the Mother Girls doing their stuff.

On the contrary, it is the Washington club of the American League, and the pitcher is a young fellow named Luzee, some name.

To the members of the Washington club, Luzee is a "hot" pitcher. He is one of the winning reasons why M. Eugene Harris hopes his club will get something out of this year.

Luzee is a real "hot" pitcher. He has won two major league games, and he is a "hot" pitcher. He is a "hot" pitcher. He is a "hot" pitcher.

Working around the New York Yankees in the second year of his career, Luzee has been a "hot" pitcher. He is a "hot" pitcher. He is a "hot" pitcher.

The Washington team, after being in the lead for several weeks, decided he was a good prospect and a fancy name was given to the pitcher. Just prior to the deal for Luzee, the Washington team, after being in the lead for several weeks, decided he was a good prospect and a fancy name was given to the pitcher.

FIVE FIRST-PLACE WINNERS OF 1926 IN VALLEY EVENTS

Two of First-place Men Expected to Lose to Johnston This Year

Perusal of the records of last year's Fox River Valley high school conference track and field meet held at Whiting, field shows that five first place winners of last year again will be entered in their favorite events this year but only three are favored for firsts. The first-place winners of 1926 who return to Appleton Saturday morning are Gallenberger and Crabbe, West Green Bay, Moister and Siwert, Oshkosh, and E. Schroeder, Manitowoc. Gallenberger again is favored in the high hurdles, Moister in the 220 and Schroeder in the mile, while Johnston of Appleton is expected to top Siwert in the broad jump and Crabbe in the 100. In fact the Orange star is expected to be high individual point winner.

In the pole vault, a weak event, and the low hurdles, not a point winner is back, but all the others have stars of last year who took either first, second or third, 18 winners in all. Two members of Fondy's 1926 relay champs also are back, but they are not expected to worry the leaders.

In the high hurdles Gallenberger and Towles of Manitowoc, first and second respectively are back to stage a real battle for first. The West man beat the Ships star by about a foot at Manitowoc last week. In the shot Kruse of Appleton who tied for second and Posey of West, who tied him, are back. Both are expected to fall before Johnston of Appleton, and Kresky of Marinette and possibly Pfeiffer of Appleton. In the 100, Crabbe and Siwert return. The finished 1-2 last year but are expected to make it 2-3 to Johnston this year.

The mile finds Borchers of West and Skoracki of Manitowoc back. They finished 2-3 last week but already this year Navarre of Appleton has beaten Borchers and two Manitowoc men have cut even faster time than Navarre. In the 440 Fischl of Manitowoc was second last year and he is an easy favorite this year. In the high jump Siwert of Oshkosh tied for second under a 5' 10 1/2" first, but Cookson of Fondy, Kruse of Appleton, Kabat of West, Schreiber of Manitowoc and Kresky of Marinette are expected to do as well as the Oshkosh ace.

In the discus Herber who took second to Beck's record last year is back and is a favorite, though Kruse can give him a tough battle. Kresky of Marinette won third last year. In the 220 Moister, winner last year, again is favored, with Crabbe of West, second last year, as second choice. In the 880 Schroeder of Manitowoc, winner last year, is favored, though Roemer of Appleton is expected to make him work. Roemer took second to a much faster first made by J. Skoracki of Manitowoc in 1925. Skoracki made the distance in 2:14.2 and Schroeder in 2:14.8. Roemer led last year, but was forced to sprint too soon by a Manitowoc "decoy" and the loss in the final stretch, after leading all but the last 50 yards, through lack of condition and the fast pace set by the decoy. This year, running his own race, he should better Schroeder if he is in good condition.

In the broad jump are Siwert, first last year, and Quinn of West, second. Johnston is expected to trim Beck and the pair have plenty of trouble keeping Klaus of East, Pettino of Sheboygan and Behnke of Oshkosh behind them. In the javelin, anybody's event, Newtons of East, winner of second to Rasmussen's 162 foot mark last year is back. But Strutz of Appleton beat him in the squad meet this year at the Bay.

First-year Men Beat Favorites in High School Softball Loop in Tenth

In a softball game that was nip and tuck from the first inning to the last, the seniors, with first one man leading and then the other, and by only a score for two, the Sophomores upset the seniors, 2 to 1, Saturday afternoon at the school grounds to take the lead in the Appleton high school interschool softball league. The Sophs triumphed over the Seniors, supposed by an easy favorite in the loop, 2 to 1, in ten innings to take a lone hold on first place and force the near-grads into a tie with the Faculty for second with a 50-1 margin.

Errors were few in the early frames but as the game pulled along toward the ninth with it still being a tossup the excited youths threw the ball around wildly at times. Though both Luzee, senior hurler and Neller, Sophomore, were pounded hard they staged a real mound duel. The seniors led 1-0 in the ninth but the Sophs scored again and then held the near-grads in a rally, pounding Luzee's offering the hardest of the entire game, to the mat. In the tenth the Sophs scored again and then held the near-grads in a rally, pounding Luzee's offering the hardest of the entire game, to the mat.

Errors were few in the early frames but as the game pulled along toward the ninth with it still being a tossup the excited youths threw the ball around wildly at times. Though both Luzee, senior hurler and Neller, Sophomore, were pounded hard they staged a real mound duel. The seniors led 1-0 in the ninth but the Sophs scored again and then held the near-grads in a rally, pounding Luzee's offering the hardest of the entire game, to the mat.

MAIZE ATTEMPTS TO BREAK ILLINI WINS

Illinois' Undefeated Nine Meets Michigan in Real Test Battle

Chicago—(P)—The winning streak of the Illinois baseball team is due for its seventh Big Ten test Saturday in the return game with Michigan, which has been going strongly since a disastrous start. The Illini have carried off the verdict five times, but Wednesday's game was a tie with the second place Iowans, called because of darkness.

The Iowans are expected to have an easy victory over Indiana Saturday, bringing them a step closer to the conference leaders.

Northwestern, saving the game by a ninth-inning stand against Purdue early in the week, has a chance to break its third place tie with the idle Minnesota team, if the Purple can count against Wisconsin. Saturday, Purdue star right hander, Maxton, was the first to check Northwestern's hitting streak this spring while Stoll, the Wisconsin captain and best southpaw, has been beaten in two of his three starts.

Minnesota has no conference games for two days but has a double header scheduled with Notre Dame next week end.

Ohio expects a fair easy victory over Chicago Saturday as the Maroons have been able to defeat but one of their conference opponents.

The standing:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Illinois	5	0	1.000
Iowa	4	1	.800
Northwestern	4	1	.800
Minnesota	2	1	.667
Ohio	3	2	.600

Michigan	2	2	.500
Wisconsin	1	2	.333
Indiana	1	2	.333
Chicago	1	2	.333

Cardinal Grid Drills Finish With Contests

Madison—Spring football drill at the University of Wisconsin was to be capped Friday afternoon on the Camp Randall grounds when the Army and Navy teams, composed of candidates who have been training under Coach Glenn Thiel's tutelage and his staff during the past month, will clash for spring honors.

Each squad will be required to use 22 men during the course of the game, according to the rules provided by the coaches. A gold medal will be awarded to each of the men playing on the winning team. The starting lineups of the two squads were not available from Coach Loh, in charge of the Navy and Coach Holmes and Yell of the Army.

Provisions have been made that in the event of a tie the winner of the game will be decided on the basis of yardage gained on the authority of a chart. Each player will be required to engage in the scrimmage for a minimum time of five minutes.

THE INSIDE OF BASEBALL

BY BILLY EVANS

1. Is it possible to make a substitution for a baserunner because of an injury and still have the original play or remain in the game?

2. In case of rain or wet grounds, who is the sole judge as to the fitness for play?

3. Fielder prevents runner from reaching base by obstructing his progress, what happens?

4. With runners on bases, pitcher drops ball in the act of winding up, what is the ruling?

5. With no one on, pitcher does the same thing while in act of delivering ball to batsman, what happens?

THIS TELLS IT

1. Only by consent of captain or manager of other team.

2. Manager or captain of home team is sole judge as to fitness of field or weather conditions, relative to starting play.

3. Fielder creates interference and batsman should be given the right to the base he was going, his objective.

4. It is a balk, all runners being entitled to advance one base.

5. With no one on, it is merely regarded as accidental and no penalty is imposed.

Wilson junior high school's softball team took its second win of the season when it defeated McKinley High in an Appleton Junior High School League championship Thursday afternoon at Wilson field, 13-9. The cellar nine put up a strong battle but succumbed in the final innings to Coach Riebe's crew.

Steinacker and Minischmidt were the bat stars for the winners while Wilson hurled a fine game. Bernhardt received Wilson's slants. The 1927 pennant for the league will be decided in the final game next Thursday at Roosevelt grounds when Wilson battles the unbeaten Roosevelt high squad. Roosevelt has won all three of its games, including one with Wilson, and the Riebers have won two and lost one. A win for Wilson will mean a tie for the title and an extra game on a neutral field and a win for Roosevelt will clinch the banner. Though Roosevelt won before the game was played indoors because of rain and the Wilson men expect to give a hard battle on an outdoor field.

Roosevelt already has won the 1927 football and basketball titles of the city junior highs.

BLUES COMPLETE WORK FOR BELOIT TRACKMEN

Lawrence college track and field athletes completed hard training Thursday afternoon for the dual meet with their old rival, Beloit college, here last Saturday afternoon. Beloit lost its first meet of the season last Saturday to Cornell by almost the same score by which the Blueners lost to Marquette showing its best strength in the events in which Lawrence is the weakest, the field division. Because of this the meet here Saturday is expected to be won by a small margin with Lawrence having a slight edge, because of larger margin of superiority on the track. The Christophers are strongest in the hurdles and the dashes.

Indiana—Joe Sekyra, Indianapolis, shaded Sully Montgomery, Chicago (10).

Louis Kelly, Des Moines, shaded Walter Moody, Rock Island, Ill. (10).

Ted Siedman, California, and Wild Cat Eddie Mason, St. Paul, drew (10).

The mile oval, around which the horses will race one and a quarter times was fast and, barring rain, should be in the best possible condition at post time, about 4:40 central standard time, Saturday.

The downs itself is ready for the gong which announces the horses are "at post."

Des Moines, Ia.—(P)—Louis May, Des Moines, scored a technical knockout over Sam Brown, Davenport (5).

Ohio, Cards Favored To Lead Quadrangular Meet

Evanson, Ill.—Selection of a probable winner in the fourth annual quadrangular track and field games here Saturday between Chicago, Northwestern, Ohio and Wisconsin is a difficult task with any of the teams likely to crush through with a victory. The meet will mark the dedication of Northwestern's new quarter mile track met held at Northwestern in three years.

Ohio and Wisconsin, by virtue of their splendid showing on the indoor tracks this winter, are casting long eyes at first place while Northwestern and Chicago, fresh from victories last Saturday over Indiana and Purdue, have hopes of their own. A number of outstanding conference athletes will compete for the four teams including McGinnis and Burs at the indoor conference, forcing Burs into second place. The little blond fellow, however, has been doing good work in the outdoor meets this spring and is prepared to avenge the defeat suffered in the conference.

"Chuck" McGinnis of Wisconsin will attempt to duplicate his victory over Burs of the Maroons in the high jump. McGinnis jumped 6 feet 5 inches at the indoor conference, forcing Burs into second place. The little blond fellow, however, has been doing good work in the outdoor meets this spring and is prepared to avenge the defeat suffered in the conference.

"Tiny" Lewis, Northwestern's versatile athlete, will attract considerable attention following his remarkable performance against Indiana last Saturday when he placed in six events and won 18 points for the Purple, besides winning the shot put and tying for first in the high jump he picked off seconds in the pole vault, discus and high hurdles and a third in the javelin.

Interesting races are expected in the mile and two mile with Kennedy and Wikoff of Ohio; Zola and Petaja of Wisconsin; Orchard and Williams and Dugan of Chicago furnishing the competition. Dugan and Stone of Wisconsin, Kriss and Bevan of Ohio and Gist and Burke of Chicago will be among the leaders in the quarter.

DAUGHTERS OF MIDAS

THIS HAS HAPPENED

T. Q. CURTIS, millionaire owner of the big Curtis department store selects three girls from his establishment to be his wards for one year. During that time he promises to give them the opportunity to pursue the work which will lead to the realization of their respective ambitions.

The girls chosen are BILLY WELLS, who longs to become a concert violinist, NYDA LOMAX, who for the sake of gaining her employer's favor during the contest, says her ambition is to be a kindergarten teacher, and WINNIE SHELTON, who untruthfully declares she wants to become a private secretary to a "big business man like Mr. Curtis."

CLAY CURTIS, son of the millionaire store owner, tries to get Billy to give up the proposition, feeling that this precipitation of three poor girls into wealth will be disastrous. She disregards his advice. Clay has disinherited himself and is living in the Wells home in the poor section of the city, working in the Truman automobile factory in the daytime and writing music at night. Clay hints darkly that his father's old scheme has not yet been revealed.

In accordance with Old T. Q.'s terms, Billy leaves her mother's home and goes to the Curtis mansion where she is to live for one year. Billy finds Nyda and Winnie already established in their rooms. They were too impatient to wait for their coming, and therefore have chosen their rooms before Billy has a chance to select the one she would like.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXII

The three girls took up their residence in the Curtis mansion on Thursday, Sunday afternoon Billy was driven to the shabby little Wells cottage in the Cluny limousine, the chauffeur, Daniels, touching his cap to her as she stepped out of the car with directions for his return at five.

It was a transformed little Billy Wells who flung open the door of the living room. Her sturdy slowness was wrapped about in a luxurious mole-skin coat, her bright chestnut curls just showing beneath a saucy, expensive tam of taupe-colored suede. A great, crisp orchid turned the blue of her eyes to its own exotic jade green.

"From rags to riches!" she laughed at Clay's and her mother's amazement. "Mother, I can see you doing mental arithmetic over this coat. Don't get a headache, darling. Old T. Q. treated all of us to our choice of a fur coat—within reason. Nyda took the best Hudson seal she could find and is sore because it isn't real seal. Winnie chose squirrel, and she looks adorable in it. Mole doesn't wear so awfully well, but I couldn't resist it. Like it, folks?"

"It's real pretty," Mrs. Wells said, taking the coat from Billy's shoulders. "But I'm thinking, Billy—it's going to be hard, after the year's up—"

"Oh, don't crab, mother," Billy lifted the suede tam from her head and flung it at Clay with an impudent smile. "Don't you like me in my glad rags, Clay?"

"Very much," he said briefly. Then, as her bright, eager face clouded, he added, with his boyish, frank smile, "Go ahead, Billy. Get all you can this year. But—don't let it turn your head. Did you bring your violin? Say, I've written a song I want you to try out—"

"Oh, Clay, I'm so sorry!" There was genuine distress in her voice. "But I have to be back for tea at five. Guests, you know. And you're usually out, walking on Sunday afternoon—"

"I was just going," he told her shortly, and before she could protest, he had slammed out of the room.

"Clay has atrocious manners," Billy bit her lips to keep them from trembling. "I've been so frantically busy since Thursday that I've hardly had time to think of my violin, and I did want to visit just with you, honey—"

She put her arms about her mother and hugged the plump little body close. "I cried half the night Thursday night, and, mother, what do you think? Winnie and Nyda did, too! Honestly! Both came sneaking to my room between eleven and twelve, and we had a weeping bee together."

"Mother's baby!" Mrs. Wells kindly face glowed with joy as she drew the girl down into her lap.

"But Friday you'd never have suspected that any of us had wept with homesickness. Shopping, mother! We decided to get a new outfit from the skin out, and at breakfast T. Q. told us the good news about the fur coats. We got them at the Curtis Store, of course, and you'd have died laughing to see the way Nyda and Winnie ritzed the girls who waited on us. But believe me, the girls didn't laugh. I—I don't think I'll do much of my shopping at the store, mother. It's terrible—the girls all know, of course, about T. Q.'s giving us a year in his home, and they'd rather take a dose of poison than wait on us."

"I don't blame them," Mrs. Wells told her with unexpected snapshippedness.

"Well, I don't either, so there's nothing to quarrel about," Billy kissed her mother's mottled lips, and laughed at her.

She settled more comfortably in her mother's arm and let her eyes rove about the ugly little dining room.

"This is an awful place, mother. I wish you could come and live with me at the Curtis house. You ought to see my room. Of course Nyda and Winnie beat me to the best rooms, but I like mine almost as well as theirs. It's bigger than our living room and dining room put together, and it has a whole row of French windows opening out on a darling little balcony. Of course it's full of heavy, horrid, old-fashioned furniture now, but T. Q. is going to redecorate our rooms to suit our own tastes."

"And what's my baby going to have?" Mrs. Wells voice and tear-misted eyes yearned over the girl nestling in her arms. Billy could not see the shadow of trouble that dimmed the brightness of her pleasure in her daughter's good fortune.

"Oh, I'm quite modest," Billy chuckled. "I've have some adorable furniture at the store—a low, wide couch-bed, dressing table, chest of drawers, desk and chairs in painted wood—soft, dull green, sort of a milky jade, with a dim pattern of roses in a faded pink and silk lace panels, and a big, dull-green velvet rug. Oh, yes, I want a chaise longue, too, with a faint, shaggy back of cane, painted to match the furniture, and upholstered in the green silk of the draperies, with green and rose cushions."

"It sounds very sweet," her mother admitted in a slightly constrained voice. "I guess your own little room here, with its white enameled bed and oak dresser will look pretty awful to you when you—when you come home."

"Don't worry, mother!" Billy reassured her with her wide, impudent grin. "When the year's up I'm going to have so much money saved up that we can go straight to New York and get me all dated up for a concert tour. Then I can earn pretty things for myself—and for you."

"Have you seen Professor Navratil yet?" her mother asked eagerly. "Don't he think you're a genius?"

Billy flushed, did not meet her mother's eyes. "Well, to tell you the truth, mother, I did make an appointment with him for Saturday afternoon, but I had to break it because I had a sitting at the Princess Shoppe, and I did so want to wear this dress today. I'm going to see him tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. I'll phone you just as soon as I get away from him."

"You didn't have to dress up to come to see your mother," Mrs. Wells protested. "I was so anxious to hear what he thought of your playing—"

"Why, mother?" Billy took her mother's face between her hands and shook it affectionately. "I didn't know you'd mind so much, or I'd have done without the dress. It was only that Nyda and Winnie were going to spring their new clothes today. You know I told you I have to be back for tea. We're going to have—guests. It's really our first party since we went there to live—"

"Some of those nice men you met at the dinner?" Mrs. Wells probed eagerly.

"Yes, Ralph Truman and Bruce

Kruger and—Mrs. Meadows nephew." She could not bring herself to pronounce Dalhart Romaine's name. The very thought of Romaine made her dizzy, flushed her face with the fever which had burned in her since the first time she had seen him. Suddenly she was in a very agony of impatience to be gone. She rose and walked restlessly about the room, parting the cheap lace curtains to peer out into the street, to see the Curtis car drive up. She hardly heard a word her mother said—something about how badly he slept, how nervous he was. Oh, why didn't the car come?

Why had she bought this green dress? It was horrid. She wanted to appear before Dal Romaine in raiment so dazzling and glorious that his drooping black eyes could see nothing else but her in all the world. She had dared and thirsted for a sight of him; that fever of her longing to hear his low, deep voice had driven her to ceaseless activity during the day and to wide-eyed, restless tossing at night. And all she had had from him was the orchid she wore on her coat. She had prized it above everything that her new life had brought her until she found that he had sent a white orchid to Nyda and a lavender-and-purple one to Winnie.

"Oh, there's the car!" she gasped in relief when at last there came a low, discreet honk of the horn—the signal she had agreed upon, since she did not want the chauffeur peering into their hideous little hall. "I thought I'd be late for the party," she laughed. But she jammed her expensive new hat upon her head as if it were her old felt, shrugged hastily into her mole-skin coat, and kissed her mother twice, hastily, missing her mouth the last time.

"Bill," her mother tried to detain her. "There's something you haven't told mother. Have you—have you fallen in love, honey, with one of those rich boys?"

Billy paused at the doorway, but she was quivering with eagerness to be gone. "Fallen in love? Of course not, you funny darling! You know whom I love—but don't you dare tell him so, the pig! To chase off by himself as soon as I come! Goodbye, darling. I'll phone you what Navratil says. I love you. And for heaven's sake, don't worry about me. I'm not going to be spoiled or have my head turned, or anything tragic like that."

She was gone, the green orchid touching one glowing cheek with a fringed, fairy-delicate finger. Her mother stood for a long minute as Billy had left her, the smile fading slowly from her face. Her lips began to quiver childishly, tears hummed over the faded blue of eyes that had once been as dark and brilliant as Billy's. Then, with a low moan, she stung herself down upon the broken-sprung old davenport and began to sob.

Twixt Devil and Deep Sea

SAVING money by dropping from high grade winter gasoline to "low" in summer.

A pretty theory—that leads down a risky road. For it's under the charitable term of low that the most dangerous and poorest fuel products can clamor and wheedle for your business on even terms. A motley ruffraff of irresponsibles, rank unknowns and nondescripts—the worst of them priced as high and crying as loudly for your trade as the least poor.

And between them your luckless car is deviled on the one side by doubt of real saving and beset on the other by the fear of outright motor damage from poor quality! Does it—can it—pay?

Wadhams 370

A High test that IS high test is your safe ground for real savings throughout every season. The character that for years has made it the recognized fuel of winter is the character that makes it save all the more through spring's changeable days and the set warmth of summer.

Because of its perfect firing and freedom from heavy kerosenish residues, it operates on the thin mixture of true economy, delivering more miles, smoother miles and safer miles with never a disturbing doubt or uncertainty of its quality. And it stands to reason that it is in the season when your car is in greatest use that it can register its greatest savings for you.

And its cost is now no more than ordinary "high".

VELVETY... Tasteful!

JEWEL WALL FLAT

THERE is nothing quite so necessary in home decoration as having the walls tastefully decorated. It is extremely simple with JEWEL WALL FLAT, a sanitary velvet finish oil paint, which gives charming results on interior walls, ceilings and woodwork. Its rich velvet finish sets off the entire room to best advantage. Has no glare, and is, therefore, especially suited for use in public buildings. It is to be had in many pleasant tints—and black and white.

Concrete Pavements Are Safe for Night Driving, Too

No wonder motorists everywhere are enthusiastic boosters for Concrete Streets and Roads.

They are safe by day, and safe by night—rigid and unyielding. They are also a pleasing light gray in color—even on a starless, moonless night you can hold your path surely and steadily when you motor on Concrete.

You want your pavements to be an investment—not an expense. You want to receive dividends in service and satisfaction. That means Portland Cement Concrete Pavement.

Our booklet tells many interesting things about Concrete Streets. Write this office for your copy.

CORBETT REPORTS ON CONVENTION OF NATIONAL CHAMBER

Dr. H. K. Pratt and H. C. Humphrey Also Are Delegates from This City

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, returned Thursday from Washington, D. C., where he represented the chamber at the fifteenth annual convention of the national chamber last week. Dr. H. K. Pratt and H. C. Humphrey also attended as delegates and Dr. Pratt was a national commissioner from Wisconsin. Dr. D. C. Kinsman, former professor of economics at Lake Forest college, visited the local delegation during the meetings. He now is a member of the faculty of George Washington university, Washington, D. C.

The convention was one of the best and largest in history, according to Mr. Corbett. The largest group attended the talk by President Coolidge when between 1,000 and 5,000 were present. The first day of the convention was "commissioners' day" at which national commissioners were nominated and the remainder of the week was given over to talks by prominent men and women and conferences on important matters.

The men were invited to attend luncheon meetings of various groups. Mr. Corbett attended the civic development group. Mr. Humphrey, the manufacturers and Dr. Pratt the agriculture meeting. One of the important discussions of the civic development group was City Planning and its Value.

Midwaukee won the fire-waste contest conducted by the national chamber in the larger city class and Albany, Ga., took the contest for the third straight time for the small cities.

Britain Hefts Smokes To See If They Are Altered

BY MILTON BRONNER

London—There is a human being, especially when they have dealings with big corporations, an ineradicable suspicion that nothing will drive out. For instance, the other day the head-driven champion of the ex-haquer announced that in order to find additional revenue he was increasing the tax on raw tobacco. He also gave it as his opinion that this tax was not so great that it ought to be passed on to the consumer.

WOULDN'T BOOST PRICE

Immediately the newspapers began speculating whether the dealers would raise the price of cigarettes, cigars and pipe tobacco. And in immediate response most of the big cigarette manufacturers advertised the tobacco tax would make no difference in their prices. Some went even further. They pointed out that the tobacco tax would affect neither the price, size nor weight of the cigarette they put out. Now that seems fairly conclusive.

But wait! Listen to what the publisher says:

Skeptic No. One:

"Oh, it sounds all right. And I suppose if you took ten pre-tax cigarettes and ten after-tax cigarettes you would find they weighed about the same. But that doesn't prove they have the same amount of tobacco in them. I guess they will shove a little hay in."

Skeptic No. Two:

"Of course the cigarette will weigh the same. It's only a matter of dampening the tobacco a little more before packing it into cigarettes. In a damp climate like ours, you know."

The truth is, perhaps, that none of the companies has any such nefarious designs. They know that the public knows how lightly the tobacco tax bears on the trade when it is spread out. They know also that they can't afford to kill the goose that smokes the golden egg.

LOTS OF SMOKERS

There are probably more tobacco shops in Great Britain than in any country in the world. All of them make a living. But if the price of cigarettes were suddenly shot up or the quality went down, consumption would be decreased. It's not a matter of guess work. The manufacturers know. The whisky trade gave them the proof of it. When under heavy taxation and after the war regulations, the price of whisky was jiggered to the skies and there was more water in every bottle of whisky, this booze-drinking nation just cut down its booze and took to port.

ATTORNEYS FOR COUNTIES TALK OVER PROBLEMS

Man Is Not Made Good by Legislation, Says Brown-
co District Attorney

Stanley A. Stalld, assistant district attorney, was in Green Bay Thursday attending the opening session of the two-day convention of district attorneys of Wisconsin. John A. Lovsdorf, district attorney, is attending on Friday.

R. E. Evard, Green Bay, district attorney for Brown-co, was the chief speaker on Thursday.

Man never was made good by legislation, Evard told the attorneys.

"The tendency of modern legislation," he continued, "has been more to curb the natural preferences and likes of man and has resulted in general confusion when authorities have attempted to enforce these laws.

"Man often times behaves in fear of the law, and sometimes obeys because of a desire to escape a penalty. Religion, patriotism, education and social conditions are more conducive to the higher morals of a people than all the laws of the nation combined.

"The country at large is impressed with an idea that crime is more prevalent today, especially in the United States, than years ago. It is alleged that the increase in crime is due primarily to war; to breakdown of criminal justice; immigration; negro migration; breakdown of parental authority; and to numerous publications, magazines, spoken words, news agencies, telegraph, telephone, radio, and numerous other means of disseminating news in reference to crime.

"In considering the history of the crime wave, it is necessary to take into consideration the figures, even though they may be inaccurate, over a period of years, and the character influenced by the numerous changes in the criminal law from year to year. What may be considered a crime today was not considered a crime years ago, and was not considered a crime under the common law.

"Today we find laws on our statute books referring to fish and game, pure food laws, liquor laws, sanitation laws, traffic laws, and numerous other laws; a violation of which is made a specific crime. These laws as referred to have been placed on our statute book of recent years, and by reason thereof, we have what is termed a new type of criminal. These laws restrict preferences, desires, or conveniences of many of the people.

"In fact, taking into consideration the present population with the past, the number of laws that we have existing on our statute books today, making crimes that we did not have years ago, we find that the matter of violations are below in percentage today, than they were years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Radcliffe, Miss Lenore Radcliffe and Mrs. Fred Morey of Eagle River were Appleton business visitors Wednesday.

NASH has the power you need on the HILLS

Every Nash owner notices that he has very little gear shifting to do on hills, no matter how steep the grades may be.

Nash is a very powerful motor car. There is nothing half-hearted or sluggish about its response—the motor never "talks back" at you—even though you are climbing mountains.

One reason is the more than adequate power designed into every Nash motor car. Nash engineering has provided reserve energy for situations that tax the resources of other cars, and extend their engines to the point of strain.

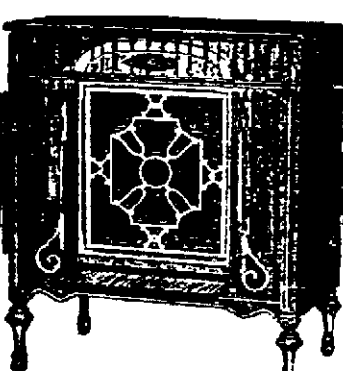

Another reason for the powerful performance of Nash is 7 bearings. 7 bearings in every Nash model, instead of 3 or 4, means that power is not thrown away by crankshaft "whip." Proper bearing support conserves energy that older motor types waste.

Quick acceleration—powerful responsiveness—such as Nash provides, is a safety factor you cannot overlook. It is invaluable on the hills, very handy in traffic.

When you select your next car, be sure to see how unfavorably the power and pick-up of other cars compare to Nash, before you decide! There are 26 models priced from $865 to $2090 f. o. b. factory.

KELLER REELECTED DIRECTOR OF STATE JEWELERS' SOCIETY

Appleton Man Also Is Elected to Attend National Convention

Gustave Keller, Sr., of Appleton was reelected a director of the Wisconsin Retail Jewelers' association and was elected a delegate to the national convention in Milwaukee in the fall of the annual convention of the state men in Fond du Lac Wednesday and Thursday. A. W. Anderson of Neenah, was reelected state secretary and also will attend the national convention. He is national secretary of the association.

Officers' reports showed the association and the National Jewelers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. in splendid financial condition. More than $12,000,000 of insurance has been written to protect jewelers of the United States. Three directors of the company were reelected at a meeting of the company. They are T. J. Dale, of Kenosha; Lenn M. Nelson of Madison, and J. T. Chapman of Oshkosh.

ELECT OFFICERS
Officers of the state association will be: President, Arthur C. Hentschel of Milwaukee; vice president, Mr. Dale; secretary, Mr. Anderson; treasurer, Henry F. Stocker of Milwaukee; directors, Mr. Keller, W. H. Upmeyer of Milwaukee, Mr. Chapman, John P. Hess of Fond du Lac, Mr. Nelson, John H. Souhammer of Milwaukee, and Edward J. Jensen of Milwaukee. The next state convention will be held in a city selected by the board of directors. Sheboygan was suggested as the next meeting place.

Fourteen delegates were chosen to go to the national convention. Plans were made for making this the largest convention in the history of the association.

The convention closed with a banquet and dance at the Redway hotel. The new ball room of the hotel was used for the first time since its completion.

KELLER IN TOASTMASTER
Mr. Keller was toastmaster at the banquet and John R. McGalloway of Fond du Lac, was the speaker of the evening. His subject was Some Fundamentals, which discussed the structure of the government of this country. He talked on the civil and political life of the United States. A reading was given by Miss Eleanor Chaplain of Fond du Lac.

The program closed with the presentation of flowers to the dean of American jewelers and watchmakers, German Scherzinger of Fond du Lac. Mr. Scherzinger was born Oct. 7, 1832. He started business in Fond du Lac 65 years ago and always has been active in the association.

The ladies auxiliary of the Fond du Lac association entertained visiting women while the men were at business sessions. About 300 persons attended the banquet and between 160 and 175 registered for the convention.

Appleton jewelers who attended were W. H. Heston, J. H. Heston, Kamp, Morris Specter, Carl F. Tenney, J. B. Pitt, R. J. Trisler, and Henry Marx.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

Wednesday's question was: Contract No. 10. West opens with the Eight of Diamonds. Dummy has two small, and Closed Hand King Queen and one small. Where are the other Diamonds higher than the Eight?

The answer is: West has the Ace, Jack and Nine of Diamonds, and East has the Ten. West must have three better than the Eight he led. If these three had been Ace-Jack-Ten, Ace-Ten-Nine, or Jack-Ten-Nine, the Eight would not have been led. The division above named is therefore the only one possible.

The new question: Against a Heart contract, West leads the Six of Hearts. Dummy has the Nine-Eight-Three, Closed Hand the King-Jack-Four. Where are the other Hearts higher than the Six? Answer below.

A correspondent in Massachusetts has asked for comment concerning players who criticize their partners. Excerpts from my answer follow:

The gratuitous criticism heard at the Bridge table rarely benefits the critic. If the partner has erred, the error has been committed and cannot be retracted. Criticism only disturbs his equilibrium and fixes his mind upon the bid or play that has been judged him from concentrating upon situations yet to be. Thousands of points have been lost because caustic and uncalled-for comment has upset the partner criticized. Criticism is bound to make its object antagonistic or timorous. In neither frame of mind can he do his best. Therefore, if you feel it your duty to aid your partner's game by giving him the benefit of your supposed greater knowledge and experience, remember that Comment during the hand is possibly illegal, probably unethical, and almost certainly detrimental to your own interests. Postpone it until after the conclusion of the rubber or sitting. Bridge instruction, given in a friendly way, at the proper time by a competent player, is beneficial; but when given under fire, is detrimental.

The above refers to criticism which is sound. Criticism which is unsound or based upon results (and fully three-quarters of the comment heard at the Bridge table is "hindsight" criticism) is harmful and incalculable at all times. There are some who think that by assuming the role of critic they aid to their Bridge reputations. Little do they know that the real expert never criticizes. When his partner is losing tricks, his face is wreathed in smiles and he subsequently benefits by his useful good nature.

Today's pointer is:
DO NOT CRITICIZE YOUR PARTNER.

The previous question was: Against a Heart contract, West leads the Six of Hearts. Dummy has the Nine-Eight-Three, Closed Hand the King-Jack-Four. Where are the other Hearts higher than the Six?

The answer is: West must have the Queen of Ten and Seven of Hearts, and East the Ace (West would not lead low against a trump contract from a suit headed by Ace, or East must have them all, and West have led a singleton or the top of a short suit).

The new question is: Who was Cavendish? Answer tomorrow.

Here W. H. Heston asks whether a misdeal can be claimed when, during the play, an irregular distribution of the cards is discovered, that I am taking.

WEEK'S GAMES

Thursday—Bankers 10, Civics club 8
Friday—Post-Crescent vs Co. D

Handicapped by the presence of five players and later in the game, adding a sixth, the Civic club softball team was no match for the strong Bankers Thursday evening in a City Twilight Softball League game, though forcing the winners to a close victory. The Bankers squeezed out a 10-8 victory in the final frames. The losers scored three times in the first and two in the second while the winners were getting two each for a 5-4 lead, but the Bankers blanked the Civics in the third and added two more to take a 6-5 margin. Both scored once in the fourth and the Civics took the lead with two runs in the fifth while blanking the Bankers. The Banks led the score at 8-8 in the sixth and won the game with a pair of tallies in the seventh and last frame.

The Banks now have split two games while the Civics have lost both starts, one by forfeit. Should the Bank protest of the Co. D game be allowed the team would top the league, undefeated. Friday afternoon two unbeaten teams Co. D and a crippled Post-Crescent team meet in a first-place battle.

H. Voecks, W. Voecks, Diedrich, Heiden and Wissman led the winners. Heiden had three hits and H. Voecks two while Wissman and W. Voecks pulled a pair of walks each. Sylvester, Carlson and Wheeler hit safely twice for the losers, and Wheeler added two walks in five trips to the plate.

AD WRITERS LEARN ABOUT TRIMMING DISPLAY WINDOWS

Effective ways to use crepe paper in decorating windows for display purposes were demonstrated by Donald F. Purdy of the Tuttle Press Co. at a meeting of the Appleton Advertising club at Hotel Northern Thursday. A full sized dummy window was erected in the dining room of the hotel.

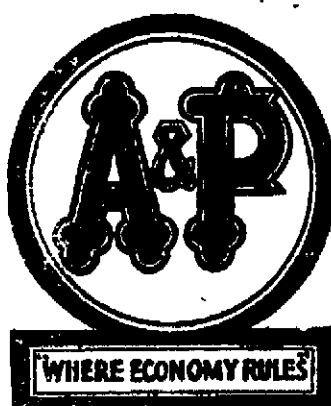

Mr. Purdy showed how to use the paper as recommended by the company manufacturing it. About 50 members of the club were present.

HONOR APPLETON MEN AT SAFETY BANQUET

Herb Heilig, director of Appleton Vocational school, H. G. Noyes, head of the paper and pulp classes of the valley schools and Harry F. Mengel, local representative of the railroad commission returned Thursday from Milwaukee where they were guests of honor at the seventh annual graduation banquet of the Milwaukee Foreman's Safety school Wednesday evening. More than 2,000 men and women attended the banquet, said to be the largest ever held in a single room in the world. The three Appleton men were seated at the speakers table and were introduced as pioneers in the field of safety.

With the opportunity of displaying its steel in Big Ten tennis competition, Minnesota laydled the Cardinal here last Saturday after Wisconsin's shiny showing in the doubles events.

Home Management—

Hats off to the ladies! They're the stabilizers of the nation. As much pride as we men take in the fact that we are men, we still must be fair—and we do recognize the housewife as the "manager" of big business—the Home. Taking care of the home, handling details and problems of the home require keen judgment, wit and persistency. American women are blessed with those qualities. Our wives and mothers and sisters practice economy which largely accounts for the success of our homes. They believe in the service store. They want to save money, and they want quality foods, but they want Service, too.

'Keep Pores Clean'—Warn Beauty Experts

Use this Clear Soap for a Clear Skin

To have a clear, soft skin of velvet texture, watch your pores and keep them clean. Blistches, pimples and blackheads rarely trouble the skin whose pores are not left choked with face powder, dust and rouge. For facial cleansing or for the bath, JAP ROSE SOAP is all bubbles—a mild, satiny lather that cleanses pores full depth. A dainty soap for dainty women.

To bathe regularly with this visibly pure soap, thereby keeping the pores free from all congestion, is the first rule of skin hygiene as it is taught by beauty specialists. Proper care of the hair demands that it be shampooed with the same care. Hair washed only with Jap Rose Soap never becomes dry, brittle, dull and lifeless, but stays fluffy and lustrous. OAK GROVE gives a deliciously tender texture to your baking

YOU are a good cook. No doubt about it. Your cake is the wonder and admiration of the family... soft, tender and delicate. Your cookies bring the children into the house on time for lunch, they like them so well. And as for gingerbread and high mysteries like that, well, my dear, what is there more to say?

You are a good cook. But your baking will be even better than it is if you use Oak Grove Margarine. As a shortening it gives unusually tender, and delicate texture to all pastry, cookies, pies and cakes. Try a pound of Oak Grove today. It is made fresh daily under United States government inspection. Ask your grocer. If you are not satisfied, he will cheerfully refund your money.

Graham Gems
1 cup graham flour, ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup sugar, 4 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 5 tbsp. melted Oak Grove Oleomargarine.
Mix and sift dry ingredients, add milk gradually, egg well beaten and melted oleomargarine; bake in greased gem pans 25 minutes.

TOWNSSMITH SENDS TEAM OF YOUNGSTERS TO
DEPERE TRACK MEET

Athletic Director Has Lots of Material to Develop Team
Next Year

Kaukauna—Coach William Smith finished his work with the Kaukauna high school track and field squad Friday afternoon. While not predicting any great success at the North-eastern Intercollegiate track and field meet at DePere Saturday afternoon he said he felt that a beginning had been made and there would be plenty of material for a strong team for next year and the succeeding years. Over half of the thirty men out for the track and field events are sophomores and many of the remaining number are freshmen. In the dashes three out of four are lower classmen and in the half mile two are sophomores and two are freshmen. Those entered in the shotput are all underclassmen while three out of four in the high jump are sophomores. The same is true of the pole vault, discus and javelin.

The team will make the trip to DePere by auto and will leave here late Saturday morning. A large number of the students will accompany the team. Fourteen other schools will compete in the meet which is scheduled to start at 1:30 in the Northeastern fair grounds at DePere.

Coach Smith has entered the following men in the various events: 100 yard dash, Marvin Miller, Myron Esler, W. Ludke, N. Nole; 220 yard dash, M. Miller and W. Ludke; and two will be selected from Esler, Ferguson and Nole; 120 yard high hurdles, O. Frank, H. Whitman and L. Bielek; 220 yard hurdles, Ferguson, Whitman, McFadden and Frank or Bielek; 440 yard dash, W. Miller, H. Whitman, Ferguson and Bielek; half mile, Nicholson, Schaefer, A. Ashe and either Gillen or Van Dyke; mile run, C. Bartsch, F. Landreman, P. Lehrer and Toman; relay team will be selected from M. Miller, Ferguson, Ludke, Esler, Nole, W. Miller, Whitman, McFadden and Bielek.

Shot put, W. Miller, R. Sager, P. Hansen and either Nole or Rohan; high jump, McFadden, W. Miller, L. Bielek and J. Koch; pole vault, W. Ludke, Kronforst, Kiefe, and Doering; broad jump, M. Miller, Norbert Nole, James McFadden and either Koch or W. Miller; discus, H. Whitman, P. Hansen, W. Miller and McFadden; javelin, H. Whitman, R. Sager, Kronforst, W. Miller and Bielek.

Two Day Convention of Ninth
District Women Ends at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—The Ninth district convention of the State Federation of Women's clubs closed Thursday afternoon in Kaukauna. Approximately 160 delegates from this district attended.

Algoma was awarded the 1928 district convention. Algoma was represented at the local convention by six delegates.

Mrs. Edward Hammett of Sheboygan, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs gave a delightful talk on The Club and the Community at the Methodist church Thursday afternoon. Fully four hundred women heard her.

Mrs. Hammett thanked the children for the splendid bouquet of flowers given her. The flowers were an acknowledgment of the big part Mrs. Hammett has played in securing state health legislation. In opening her talk the state president urged the women never to become discouraged even though they were only a part of a small study group. "Even a study group is an influence in a community," the president said, "and while there is no limit to what a larger group may accomplish, the smaller one can be just as active in its smaller community. Great work is being accomplished by clubs everywhere."

"The state federation has many interesting pamphlets on art, literature and on numerous other topics. I urge you to secure these pamphlets. They are in your own particular club. The smaller groups that can undertake exhibits should be set aside one day as Federation day and at that time should discuss the various departments and their groupings as outlined by these pamphlets."

"Now that the women have political equality with the men it is the duty of every woman to go to the polls on election day and cast her ballot for the men or women best fitted for office. This will take some study before election day. Along the same line, every woman should know the laws and their functions. Particularly should she be interested in the juvenile delinquency courts. Serious thought might evolve some way of increasing the efficiency of these courts."

"A big problem for the various women's clubs is the Americanization of the immigrants who come to this country. This is no small task and sometimes there are women who can Americanize themselves first. The foreigners come to this country because they believe it to be the land of the free and it is our greatest duty to show them that the land is everything they believe it to be. Clubs can also do a great deal in stamping out illiteracy in their particular communities. If each one of the 27 clubs in the state federation would work on illiteracy it would be only a short time before the greatest part of it would be stamped out of the state."

"The state federation now has a department that recommends the better plays and motion pictures. If the women would get in touch with this department they would not be disappointed as often as they are now. One might better stay at home and do something useful than go downtown and see a terrible motion picture."

"The American home should be made the center of all activities. The average housewife controls 50 per cent of the family money and should make a study of how she can secure dollar for dollar value for the money she spends."
